PLANE MAKES NON-STOP TRIP ACROSS U.S.

Collyer and Tucker Land at Los Angeles After Flight
From New York

Time of Transcontinental
Journey Is Officially Given
as 24 Hours 55 Minutes

Mines Field, Los Angeles, Oct. 25.—The monoplane Yankee Doodle, with Capt. C. B. Collyer at the controls, and Harry Tucker, sportsman and owner, in the passenger's seat, landed here at 3:15 p.m. to-day, completing a non-stop flight from New York City.

The official time was 24 hours 55 minutes.

Prescott, Ariz., Oct. 25.—A group of railroad men reported to-day they had sighted a monoplane, believed to be the Yankee Doodle, at 12:45 p.m. to-day at a point fifty miles south of Prescott.

Albuquerque, N.M., Oct. 25.—An aeroplane believed to be the Yankee Doodle passed over here at 9:10 a.m. to-day. It was flying about 300 feet above the city.

Wichita, Kan., Oct. 25.—The aeroplane Yankee Doodle, flying from New York to Los Angeles, passed over the Wichita airport at 4:25 a.m. to-day. It was reported by George Comstock, local manager for the National Air Transport.

The aeroplane was flying south west, Comstock said, at a low altitude when seen here.

COLLYER IS PILOT

The Yankee Doodle has its pilot, Capt. C. B. Collyer, round-the-world flier, and Harry Tucker as passenger, the owner. "They are attempting to break the non-stop flight speed record."

ENGINEER DIES AND HIS TRAIN STRIKES CARS

Fireman Leaps From Locomotive
Just Before Crash in Wisconsin

Green River, Wis., Oct. 25.—An Oregon Short Line freight train with the hands of a dead engineer at the throttle yesterday crashed into another Oregon Short Line freight standing in the yard at Fish Cut, west of the Green River, and demolished four cars. The engine rolled down an embankment.

Ray Welker of Montpelier, Idaho, the engineer, is believed to have died before the crash. Clarence L. Boynton, fireman, also of Montpelier, jumped from the cab just before the collision and received minor injuries.

Boynton said Welker had not spoken after the train had left. Granger, thirty-nine miles west of Green River, and made an effort to jump when the collision was inevitable.

MAN OF EXPERIENCE

Road officials said Welker apparently had died at the throttle, as he was an experienced engineer and the accident could not have happened otherwise. The crew of the caboose of the freight which was standing in the yard heard the whistling of the engine two miles away. When it became apparent the train was "running wild" the crew ran for safety.

A minute later the engine ploughed through the caboose and wrecked three other freight cars, one containing lumber, a second packed with merchandise and a third with wheat.

SUBMARINE FOR ANTARCTIC EXPLORATION IS NEW PLAN

Montevideo, Uruguay, Oct. 25.—Antarctic exploration by submarine is a possibility which is being considered by Capt. Sir George H. Wilkins. "He spoke of this just before he sailed from here yesterday with his party aboard the whaler Hektor for Deception Island, where he intends to establish a base for exploration by air of large spaces in the Antarctic."

He indicated it might be two years before he was ready to undertake the submarine exploration and he hoped the British Government would then be willing to aid him. The vessel would be

WILL PILOT BIG ATLANTIC AIRSHIP ON U.S. FLIGHT

DR. HUGO ECKENER

Latest reports from Lakehurst, New Jersey, said it was hoped the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin, delayed for a day by unfavorable weather conditions, would get away to-night or shortly after dawn to-morrow on its projected flight with twenty passengers as far west as Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Louis. After it flies back to Lakehurst the airship is to be prepared for its return flight to Friedrichshafen, Germany.

SCIENTIST SAYS HE DEFEATS GRAVITY

London, Oct. 25.—R. H. Tate, a young scientist of West Hartlepool, has given the scientific world something to discuss by declaring he has made a discovery which enables him to overcome the law of gravity. Newspaper accounts of a demonstration of his method say the discovery takes the form of a mysterious metal and that a plate of it floats in the air when placed above a similar material lying on the floor.

Tate declined to say how he accomplished the results. He said he hoped to demonstrate the discovery soon in the presence of leading scientists.

HIGHER GASOLINE TAX IS SUPPORTED

W. Dick, Vancouver M.P.P.,
Says Five-cent Levy Is Proper Plan

Vancouver, Oct. 25.—Premier Howarth's announcement that the gasoline tax in Ontario is to be raised from three to five cents a gallon in order that more good roads may be built, is exactly the policy I am advocating here," said William Dick, M.P.P., this morning.

"That is what I said at the banquet in honor of our two city Ministers and Premier Thorne the other night."

"The one thing we should have right away is a wide modern, up-to-the-minute road to Chilliwack."

"We really should have two first-class roads up the valley, one on each side of the river. We can pay for them easily enough. Times are good, and two cents a gallon more would not hurt anyone who is using the roads all the time. They should pay for the service they get."

"This is no time for nickel pinching," said Mr. Dick. "The policy of the Government should be one of spending on things that will bring development and not the retrenchment some people are talking about."

1.05 IS ZEPPELIN RATE ON LETTERS ACROSS ATLANTIC

Washington, Oct. 25.—It will cost $1.05 to send a letter to Germany aboard the dirigible Graf Zeppelin when it leaves from Deception Island late in the afternoon. A host of letters sent to Lakehurst intended for dispatch to Germany have been returned to their senders because the postage was short.

HERRING BAN HOSTED FOR SEASON ONLY

B.C. Gets Word From Ottawa
Cancelling Closing Order
Island Plants Allowed to Use
Fish Until December 31

Efforts of Barkley Sound operators to secure a continuation of the herring reduction season until December 31, have met with success, it was learned at the Parliament Buildings this morning.

Announcement was made a few days ago that, after securing the approval of Hon. S. L. Howe, Commissioner of Fisheries for British Columbia, the Federal Department of Fisheries had put the lid down on the use of herring to conserve this valuable food-fish.

The prohibiting order was announced as a policy formulated after consideration by the Provincial Government.

ASKS OPEN SEASON

Following vigorous protests from the operators, who claimed they have spent $2,000,000 already this year in preparation for the herring season in Barkley Sound, the Government reconsidered the matter, and the case was put before the Federal Department of Fisheries again with a recommendation that the season be extended to the open herring end of this year's operations.

The reply received from Ottawa to-day agrees to the continuation with a specification that it shall be for this season only.

FILLING HARBOR WITH LOG BOOMS IS INVESTIGATED

Alex Johnston, Deputy Minister of Marine, Here From Ottawa

Alex Johnston, Canadian Deputy Minister of Marine, whose name at the foot of license notices is known to every radio set owner from coast to coast, is in Victoria to-day on a regular inspection visit.

To-day he took up the problem of log storage at the entrance to the Inner Harbor, where hundreds of thousands of feet of fallen timber is held in the water awaiting demand from the mills in the Upper Harbor or orders for shipment elsewhere.

With Col. A. W. R. Wilby, Marine Department Agent here, Mr. Johnston went to West Bay and over the waterfront of the west side of the harbor, personally to make a study of the harbor log problem.

At the conclusion of his investigation, Mr. Johnston said the department would consider the situation and an announcement would then be made later.

NO BUILDING NOW

Mr. Johnston also went over the buildings of the marine department north of the Johnson Street Bridge. He said that no building work there or other development were planned at present.

Development of shipping on the Canadian Pacific Coast was going ahead at a rate which gives much satisfaction, Mr. Johnston declared.

On the pilotage situation, Mr. Johnston said that he was awaiting the report of the royal commission, under Mr. Justice Morrison, which is investigating the trouble. The report was expected to be released about January when Parliament meets. He hoped that a satisfactory settlement of the difficulties would be reached. He added that the pooling system, as carried out by pilots in the East, was causing considerable friction in the pilotage organization there.

POOL EARNINGS

Eastern pilots pool their earnings. Mr. Johnston explained, but receive their pay through the Department of Marine. The department, in view of the difficulties among the pilots, decided not to handle the distribution of the pool, so each pilot is paid what he earns and he in turn hands the money over the Pilotage Association for final disbursement.

"Some of the men who have the choice jobs and get more work than other pilots protested against having to share in a pool, contending it was unfair," Mr. Johnston said. "A few refused to pay into the pool, but the matter was taken to court and the pooling agreement was sustained."

Mrs. Johnston is here with him. They will return to Vancouver to-night, where Mr. Johnston will meet a delegation of log shippers and towers.

FERRY LINES CONTROL IS TO BE TESTED

Nova Scotia Operates Canso
Service Despite Federal Officials' Ban

Provincial Government Disputes Federal Regulation of Coastal Systems

Ottawa, Oct. 25.—The question of Federal jurisdiction over ferries owned by Provincial Governments is likely to be raised following the action of Hon. P. C. Black, Minister of Highways of Nova Scotia, in ordering the resumption of the ferry service across the Strait of Canso in the face of an order of the Federal Department of Marine and Fisheries detaining the ferry steamers until such time as they should comply with the provisions of the Canada Shipping Act.

It was intimated by department officials here that the next step in the controversy would be a reference to the Federal Department of Justice requiring enforcement of the order from the Department of Marine and Fisheries.

ALL OTHERS COMPLY

All other ferry vessels in Canada are required to comply with the standards demanded by the Federal Marine Department, and the officials here insist the fact of the Strait of Canso ferry being a provincially-owned utility does not take the service out of Federal jurisdiction.

NOVA SCOTIA STATEMENT

Halifax, Oct. 25.—"The interference of the Federal authorities in the Strait of Canso ferries is unwarranted, and we propose to continue operating the service, taking every reasonable safeguard for passengers and traffic," stated Hon. Percy Black, Minister of Highways of Nova Scotia. Mr. Black also conferred with the Nova Scotia Attorney-General's Department and was convinced he was fully within his rights in continuing the service.

"We have operated for three years," said Mr. Black, "and have not had a single accident."

The ferries across the Strait of Canso connect the mainland of Nova Scotia with Cape Breton Island.

EARTH SHOCKS IN NICARAGUA

City of Managua Rocked;
Great Alarm Among Residents
Reported

Managua, Nicaragua, Oct. 25.—A severe earthquake shook Managua at 7 o'clock this morning. There were several shocks which in all lasted a minute.

As far as is known the damage was slight, but for a time there was consternation among the people, especially among the foreign residents.

RECORDED AT SEATTLE

Seattle, Oct. 25.—A slight earthquake was recorded to-day on the University of Washington seismograph, starting at 5:05 a.m. and lasting for fifteen minutes. Its location and intensity could not be determined from the record.

A severe earthquake was recorded on the seismograph at Gonzales Heights Observatory to-day. The first wave commenced at 4:42 a.m. and continued for three hours. The distance of origin was 3,500 miles probably in the neighborhood of Haiti, West Indies.

NEW VANCOUVER ALDERMAN HAS TO RESIGN POST

H. J. de Graves Resigns From the Customs Service of Canada

Vancouver, Oct. 25.—By accepting aldermanic office in the Greater Vancouver City Council, Harry J. de Graves has been obliged to resign from the Federal customs service.

He tendered his resignation yesterday, he stated to-day.

"I am out of a job now, with a free hand to act in the interests of the city," he said. "After my experience with the customs service I know the characters Vancouver must rid itself of."

"Undoubtedly the new police commission will attend to its job, but if it does not hit the ball, it will hear from Harry J. de Graves."

It is understood the customs service regulations stipulate any employee receiving more than $1,500 a year may not accept outside office.

Crail, Sask., Oct. 25.—After one of the most active campaigns in the history of the province, in which Premier James G. Gardiner and Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, Conservative leader, played prominent parts, the electors of the constituency of Arm River to-day went to the polls to elect their representative in the Legislature of Saskatchewan.

The candidates are Dr. J. T. Wough, Liberal, of Imperial, and S. Andrian, Conservative, of Crail.

Lockerbie, Dumfriesshire, Scotland, Oct. 25.—Four persons were killed and three injured when a London to Aberdeen passenger train collided with a freight train near here early this morning.

The two engines were derailed and rolled down an embankment. The engineer and fireman in each engine were killed. Three passengers were slightly injured.

ROUMANIAN BOY KING NOW SEVEN

Michel I. Celebrates Birthday;
Described as Unspoiled Lad

Sinaia, Roumania, Oct. 25.—King Michel I. of Roumania forsook his tin soldiers, rubber-tired scooter and Babe Ruth baseball uniform to-day, his birthday, resisted the temptation to pull the tail of his pet spaniel and tried to maintain for one day at least the good behavior expected of a "man" of seven, ruler over 18,000,000 subjects.

Roumanian's towseled-haired sovereign looks to-day like any boy of seven. His mother, Princess Helen, guards him from the world as an army would protect an emperor from enemy attack. Under her care King Michel is being reared in almost Spartan simplicity. He is more difficult to see than the British King or the Pope, and the Associated Press correspondent is the only journalist permitted to talk with him in the royal palace.

FLIES KITE

Michael is a charming, robust, smiling, unspoiled boy, unusually intelligent, good-natured and spirited. Following his mother's example, he never speaks of his father, Prince Carol, who abandoned the Roumanian throne and is now living in Paris. Apparently the young king does not remember his father except when the latter sends him toys, as he frequently does. Michael's favorite pastimes are flying a large kite almost big enough to drag its owner into the air, playing Indian, riding David, his pony, or racing his dog, Brown Numbo, around the palace grounds.

It is understood the mine smelter will not be in operation for four days.

The men injured were a man named Lomen, a French-Canadian, and two Swedes employed at the mine. They suffered burns about their bodies.

Vernon Plant, Burned Down, To Be Rebuilt

Vernon, B.C., Oct. 25.—Indications are that Bulman's Limited will rebuild the company's dehydrating plant which turned out sixty per cent. of the dried and dehydrated apples in Canada, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. Last night citizens of Vernon, called together by Mayor Stewart, resolved to give the necessary assistance to the Bulman to ensure continuance of the industry. Efforts will be made to fill contracts which on a quality basis this organization had secured as far away as Seattle.

The fire loss is put at $105,000. The insurance totals, $45,000.

Prohibition Issue Increases Cross Currents to Such an Extent Observers Are at Sea as to How That Section Will Vote on Presidential Contest; Hoover Will Speak In St. Louis; Smith Cneered by Crowds In Boston.

Washington, Oct. 25.—With United States Presidential election only twelve days away, the political tide in the states of the Middle West is ebbing and flowing in such a way that organizers and political prophets are equally at sea. The prohibition issue has swept across both parties.

On his way to the Pacific Coast, Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee for the Presidency, will stop next Tuesday at St. Louis, Mo., for his final speech of the campaign.

The declaration last night by Senator Norris of Nebraska of his intention to campaign for Governor Smith is hailed by Democratic organizers as placing Nebraska, if not other Middle Western states, definitely on their side. In the last Presidential election the eight Electoral College votes of Nebraska went to Coolidge, although the Democratic and Progressive vote in the state, taken together, exceeded the popular vote cast for the Republicans.

GERMAN-AMERICAN VOTE

Among German-American voters of the Middle West, the Republicans describe Hoover as the man who, following the close of the World War, befriended Germany and was determined Germany should be fed. Ambassador Houghton is endeavoring to gain German support in Milwaukee. A survey of German publications throughout the United States shows that of the 220 published, all but twenty-seven are either non-partisan or taking no part in the campaign. Seventeen newspapers are pro-Smith; seven pro-Hoover; three Socialist papers support Norman Thomas. United States citizens of German birth number in all about 1,300,000.

Washington, Oct. 25.—(By George H. Nathan, Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press)—On November 6, twelve days hence, one of the candidates now campaigning will be elected President of the United States. To-day the situation in the fight between Herbert Hoover, Republican, and Governor Al Smith, Democrat, may be summed up:

1.—In the Southern States the Democrats are divided among themselves over prohibition, but it is doubtful if their divisions will be so great as to permit Republican successes in the usually solid Democratic South. Republican chances appear to be best in the "border" states of Kentucky, Maryland, Oklahoma and Tennessee.

POSITION IN MIDDLE WEST

2.—In the farm states of the Middle West the Progressive vote cast for the late Senator La Follette in the last presidential election, if it goes Democratic, may result in Democratic gains. Both Republicans and Democrats are fighting hard for the old La Follette vote.

3.—In New England the Democrats are endeavoring to drive a wedge between the Republican divisions over prohibition. Massachusetts appears to be the most doubtful state. There the vote of naturalized French-Canadians is generally believed to be the crucial situation. Normally, it is understood to be republican.

NEW YORK STATE

New York State, with its heavy vote of forty-five in the Electoral College, is generally regarded as leaning toward Smith. A Tammany canvass shows a plurality for Smith of 600,000 in New York City. This is questioned by the Democrats, who claim the Democratic plurality in New York City at 450,000 and to it oppose an estimated plurality of 604,000 for Hoover in the remainder of the state.

Three Quebec Miners Hurt By Explosion

Rouyn, Que., Oct. 25.—Three men were seriously injured and property damage estimated at about $10,000 was caused by an explosion and subsequent fire at the Noranda Mine in this district yesterday afternoon. Fifty tons of coal were destroyed, furnaces were blasted and two upper floors were ripped open by the force of the explosion. The fire was extinguished at 8 o'clock last night.

It is understood the mine smelter will not be in operation for four days.

The men injured were a man named Lomen, a French-Canadian, and two Swedes employed at the mine. They suffered burns about their bodies.

Toronto, Oct. 25.—Dr. M. Langsner, in his efforts to solve the mysterious disappearance of Ambrose J. Small here years ago, may be accorded financial assistance by the Province of Ontario at least to the extent of a reasonable amount for his bare expenses. It is learned authoritatively that he stated his case, first to the Attorney-General and to the acting commissioner of provincial police and asked financial aid in carrying his expenses.

It is stated there is no disposition at Queen's Park to view his requests un sympathetically.

CANADA'S BUSINESS GROWTH IS SHOWN BY BANK FIGURES

Ottawa, Oct. 25.—The dollar volume of business in Canada was at a higher level during September than in the corresponding month of last year, bank debits to individual accounts at the clearing house centres of the Dominion showing an increase of 7.4 per cent. The dollar volume of business in the four working days, were $3,051,000,000, against $2,843,000,000 in August, with twenty-six working days.

The cumulative total of bank debits for the first nine months of 1928 was $30,900,000,000, against $24,157,000,000 in the corresponding months of 1927. This represents an increase of twenty-eight per cent. and corresponds to the greater activity in speculation and general business which has prevailed during the present year. The greatest proportional increase was shown in the prairie provinces, where the gain was nearly thirty-five per cent. The total for the centres of the prairie provinces in the nine months of 1928 was $5,573,000,000, against $3,967,000,000 in the corresponding months of 1927.

Bank Clearings Up Nearly $200,000

Victoria bank clearings for the week ending to-day show a gain of nearly $200,000 over clearings for the corresponding week of last year, according to the figure issued by the Clearing House at noon.

The comparative figures are:

Congratulated on Hens Winning Egg-laying TitleEggs of High Yield Birds Exchange For Gold Pieces

The success of T. H. Hayward of Langford in winning the Canadian egg-laying contest at Ottawa, announced yesterday afternoon by The Times, has been followed by a flood of congratulatory messages to Mr. Hayward from all parts of the Province. Mr. Hayward's pen of White Leghorns compiled 2,329 points in the year, taking the lead in the thirty-fourth week and extending the advantage until the close of the competition. The winning pen was 109 points ahead of that of W. Bradley, also of Langford, which made a total of 2,220 points to take second place.

The success of my birds is a great satisfaction. They were all second generation pullets from the pen which won the 1922 Vancouver Island championship. Mr. Hayward told The Times this morning. The victory establishes Mr. Hayward as the only breeder to win both Dominion and Provincial championships.

Discussing the value of the achievement in commercial terms Mr. Hayward remarked that eggs from the winning pen would have a value of from $1 to $5 each, the latter figure applying especially to the bird numbered 302, which attained 298 points and fourth position among the 800 competitors in total production.

"Albion," Mr. Hayward's model chicken ranch at Langford, is on the Island Highway. The birds are all of the White Leghorn breed, and at present about 3,000 are kept. Records of all breeding stock being maintained. Mr. Hayward has long been a member of the R.O.P. Poultry Breeder's Association of British Columbia. Feeding of greenstuff, kale and lettuce, raised on the ranch is an important factor in the strength of his birds. In the opinion of Mr. Hayward, PIONEER ISLAND BREEDER.

William Bradley, winner of second place, is one of the best poultry breeders of Vancouver Island. He was one of the first to recognize the merits of the R. O. P. system and is one of the original members of the R. O. P. Poultry Breeder's Association of British Columbia. Poor health caused Mr. Bradley a short time ago to relinquish the management of his farm, which is now under the supervision of W. Benson, formerly connected with the poultry department of the Alberta Government.

REPEAT RECORD

Last year British Columbia pens won five out of the first six places and this year the coast poultrymen have been almost equally as successful. They have captured five out of the first seven, including first, second, fifth, sixth and seventh. Moreover, except for ten weeks, the lead was held by a British Columbia pen throughout the entire duration of the contest.

The White Leghorn breed dominated the competition, winning all but one of the first ten places. The exception was the remarkable entry of Rhode Island Reds from Qualicum Beach, owned by John Burgess, a soldier settler. These birds held the lead, through the coldest weather, from the ninth to the thirty-second week, ending the competition in seventh place with a total of 2,016 points.

Scores of the ten leading pens were as follows: 1. T. H. Hayward, Langford, 2,329; 2. W. Bradley, Langford, 2,220; 3. J. H. Jackson, Port Dover, Ont., 2,178; 4. Elwood Roe, Atwood, Ont., 2,040; 5. Eric Flowerdew, S. Flowerdew, 2,030; 6. Bolivar Leghorn Farm, Cloverdale, 2,021; 7. John Burgess, Qualicum Beach, 2,016; 8. Arthur Alker, Meaford, Ont., 2,009; 9. Tom Barton, Preston, Eng., 1,997; 10. Lakewood Poultry Farm, Lakewood St., John County, N.B., 1,979.

Last year Eric Flowerdew of Coghill owned both the winning pen and individual high bird, J. J. Dougan of Cobble Hill being second both with pen and bird. The score of the winning pen last year was 2,415 points for 2,314 eggs, the high bird making 315 points for 282 eggs.

WOMAN'S BIRD BEST
A British Columbia breeder, Miss A. C. Brown of Burnaby owned the high individual bird in the contest, her Barred Rock, No. 132, topped the list with 308 points. Last year Miss Brown's pen of Barred Rocks gained sixth place and the heavy breed championship.

White Wyandotte No. 179, owned by W. H. Fisher of Burnaby, won the high bird with 305 points; White Leghorn No. 288, owned by Alex. McLean, Gananoque, Ont., third with 304; White Leghorn No. 281, owned by H. Hayward, Langford, fourth with 298; and White Leghorn No. 585, owned by Tom Barton, England, fifth with 297.

POPPIES WILL ADD COLOR AT BIG BANQUETHon. R. R. Bruce Orders
Flanders Flowers For Table Decoration

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Bruce yesterday afternoon visited the headquarters of the Armistice poppy sale committee, accompanied by his niece, Miss Mackenzie and A. M. D. Fairbairn, his secretary. The Red Cross Workshop annually produces 100,000 poppies for sale here and in Vancouver, and the Lieutenant-Governor expressed great interest in the work.

During his visit His Honor ordered a large number of flowers, which he stated would be used as table decorations on Monday evening, when a Government House dinner will be given in honor of Right Hon. Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary.

The committee in charge of poppy sales has already sold over $500 worth of the red flowers, the handsome wreaths proving especially popular. Large supplies of wreaths and poppies are annually sent to Vancouver from the local Red Cross Workshops, and have a ready sale.

It is expected by C. K. Morrison and A. H. Hood, in charge of the poppy campaign, that sales will this year greatly exceed the record of any previous year.

The proceeds of the poppy sale are devoted to relief work among the disabled of the Great War, while manufacture of the flowers provides work for many partially-disabled men.

SETTLEMENT IN COPYRIGHT SUITAgreement Reached in Case
Over "King of Kings" Film

Los Angeles, Oct. 24.—A decree was entered in federal court yesterday dismissing the copyright infringement suit brought by Joan A. Alquist, author of the story, "The Woe of Mary of Magdalen," against Cecil B. De Mille, Sid Grauman, Jeanie MacPherson, the De Mille Picture Corporation and others.

The authors had charged in her suit that the film play, "King of Kings," had been taken from her story.

The dismissal followed the filing of a stipulation to the effect that an amicable settlement had been reached. The details of the settlement were not given. In the suit the plaintiffs had put a valuation of $1,000,000 upon the alleged plagiarized story.

POLICE TO DO THEIR WORK BY CRICKET RULESAttorney-General Pooley
Rules Against "Stool-pigeons" in Liquor Cases

No stool pigeons will be used in liquor prosecutions in British Columbia, Attorney-General Pooley declared at the meeting of the Equilateral Conservative Association last night. "As long as I hold the office of Attorney-General of this Province, there will be no employment of stool pigeons in the administration of justice," said Mr. Pooley. "I preached that doctrine in opposition, and I heard no objections raised to it. There are a few now that object, but as long as I hold the position this policy will be carried out."

"As for the Provincial Police is concerned," he said, "it will be free from politics. The superintendent of the force is in charge. I feel satisfied that he will do his duty if he is only given a chance."

"He will promote and discharge for cause. I will not discharge, nor place men on the force. The force will be absolutely free from politics."

The Attorney-General recalled that the superintendent had started in to set up the liquor administration, it appeared.

STARTED AT HOME
"He started in my own constituency," said Mr. Pooley. "This was done without my knowledge, but I have no fault to find with him in the carrying out of his duty. As a matter of fact I congratulate him upon doing so, if it tended to be done."

He said the city prosecutor, C. L. Harrison had told him that he was not satisfied with the character of some of the evidence in the cases due to the use of "stool pigeons."

"I told him I was not in favor of using such methods," said the Attorney-General. "I was catching the boat, and had not time to discuss the situation fully with Mr. Harrison, but I told him I would have to rely upon his good judgment in the matter."

NO STOOL PIGEONS
"Hearing that there had been similar methods employed in other parts of the Province, I ordered that all such cases in which the evidence had been obtained by stool pigeons should be withdrawn. I did this because I do not believe in that method of working. I have played cricket all my life, and will continue to play by the rules of the game."

"If I fall in the task it will be time to get another Attorney-General."

Some people insist that modern young people are afraid of adventure. Yet this brief conversation is fairly common.

Brushing Young Bride: "But, John, where shall we live after the honeymoon is over?"

The Husband: "Why worry about that? What I'm thinking about is how to pay the minister."

Mrs. Goodkey Tells Her Experience with Pinkham's Compound

Byemore, Alberta.—"The Change of Life was the trouble with me and I was run-down, thin, and weak and could not sleep, had a poor appetite and could not do the least work. I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound now and feel like a new woman. I saw it advertised in the papers and tried it and Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I have recommended it to a lot of women friends."

Says—Now Stiff Joints Must Go!New Discovery Limbers 'Em Up
And Even the Creaking Ceases.

Yes, it's true—the world progresses. All you have to do nowadays to limber up that stiff, rusty knee joint is to squeeze a half inch of miracle working substance from a tube.

Then rub it on the offending part for about a quarter of a minute or until it soaks through the skin and disappears on its errand of mercy.

Then read the evening newspapers and go to bed.

The chances are that your misbehaving knee joint will lose its "creak" while you are dreaming about the high fences you used to leap when you were a youngster.

"And in the morning," says one who has tried the new discovery, "You'll feel so happy that you'll want to jump into your sportiest clothes and walk briskly down the street just to show the neighbors that you are not as old as they think you are."

Joint-Ease: They call this wonder working substance, for the reason that when ordinary remedies fail to limber up the stiff, inflamed rheumatic joint, or reduce the swelling, Joint-Ease succeeds.

It's a good name for a good, clean, stainless prescription that in just a few months has proven to a multitude of people that lame, swollen, distorted joints can speedily have the kinks taken out of them and work as smoothly as ever.

But Joint-Ease is for bothersome joints, whether in knee, ankle, hip, shoulder, spine or finger, and for that purpose its sale is immense. MacFarlane Drug Co. has a big supply of it and distributes everywhere. (Advt.)

The membership is steadily increasing, and boys desiring to enroll will be welcomed upon application to the orchestra leader, Mr. Rowles, at Boy Scout headquarters, or Maurice A. VERY SUCCESSFUL
The concerts presented last season by the Victoria Boys' Orchestra were very successful, the boys having played at the Ganges Fair, a Government House garden party and an excursion to Port Angeles, and gave concerts at the Chamber of Commerce, at Strawberry Vale and at the charity institutions of the city. Mr. Rowles, the veteran leader, has given his services without charge since the inception of the orchestra.

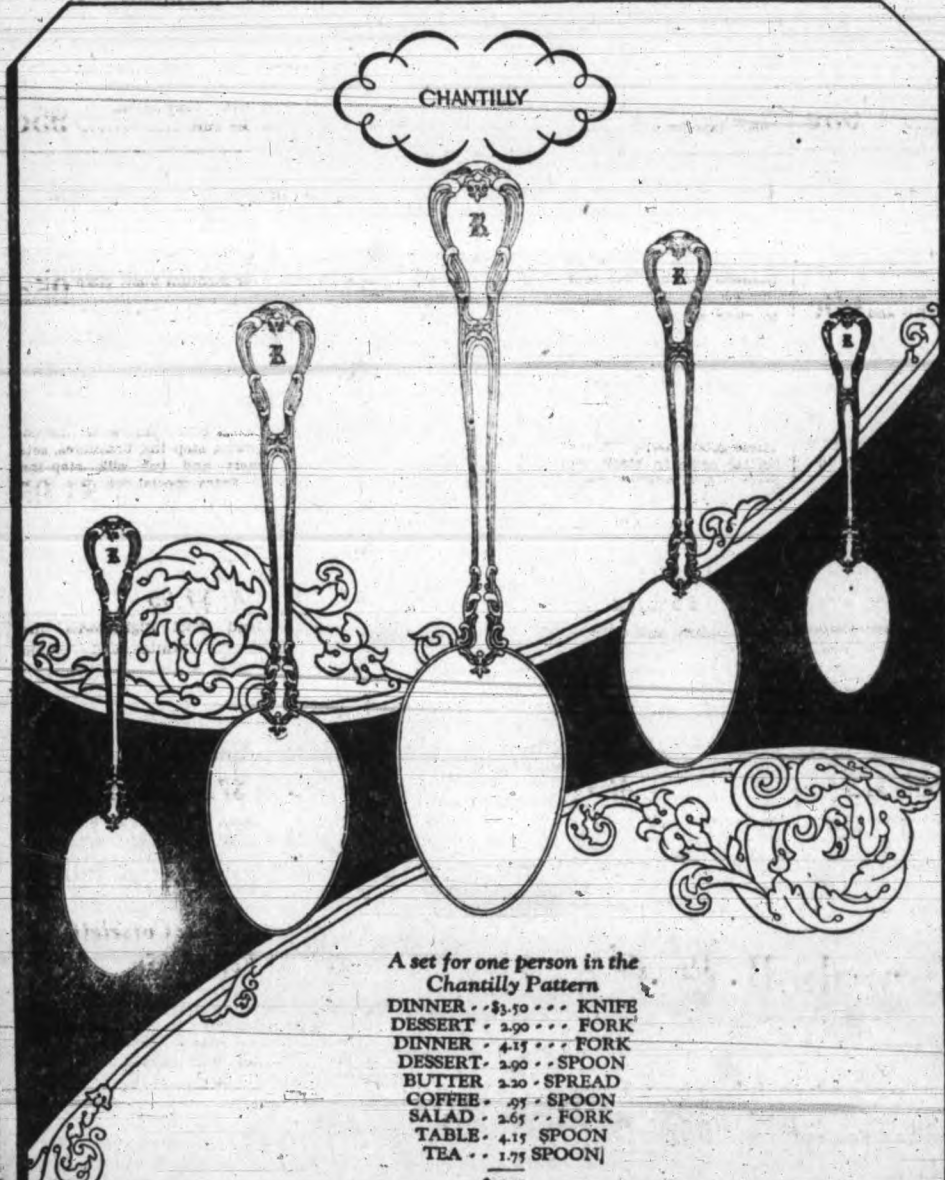

ANNOUNCING A NEW FABRIC FOR WOMEN'S UNDERWEAR

MOST women prefer to shiver in silk than wear woollen underwear! But now that necessity has gone! The Woods Underwear Company has produced a new cloth—a gossamer-like fabric so thin that an undergarment made from it scarcely adds a thirty-second of an inch to your girth!

This new fabric has been fittingly named "Cobweb." It is on display at the smart shops who sell Lavender Line—they will be glad to show you "Cobweb" garments that will assure you of warmth and comfort this winter without the loss of daintiness or the possibility of a spoilt line to your gown.

"It's Better!" Says Mrs. Mackenzie of Toronto

My grocery dealer Rinso, so I thought I'd try a package and see if it was as good as he said. It's better! Rinso makes such rich, safe, suds that, when I take the clothes out of the washer they're whiter and newer-looking than ever. Even the most soiled pieces become spotless with only a tiny bit of rubbing. No wonder I have the clothes on the line so early now. Rinso is great for cleaning dishes, floors and sinks, too! No wonder I'm getting all my friends to use it!

MRS. F. R. MACKENZIE,
117 Sherwood A.P., Toronto.

Science gives you a whiter wash—and saves you hours of hard work as well

WHEN Science said, "Here, in Rinso, is a way to make clothes white with no boiling and little or no rubbing," women were skeptical. It seemed too good to be true. But once they tried Rinso they joyfully agreed that science was right. Rinso brought them a glad freedom from wash day toiling and gave them clean, white, fragrantly-fresh clothes such as every woman loves.

Rinso makes rich suds which soak out the dirt and grime. No boiling, just a gentle rub here and there and clothes are whiter than scrubbing can make them. Hours are saved, clothes last longer, work is made lighter.

Science is waiting in every package of Rinso to give you the surest wash day help the world has ever known.

MAN POLICE SOUGHT TO TAKE KILLED HIMSELF

Manchester, Eng., Resident Who Ended Life Was Murderer

Manchester, Oct. 25. (Canadian Press Cable)—Dramatic scenes here Tuesday night in which one man was murdered, another seriously wounded and a third, the murderer, committed suicide, have aroused attention throughout the country.

Three men were playing billiards in a saloon opposite the Town Hall when a quarrel began and a fourth man, without warning, drew a revolver and fired six shots. Alfred Mace, a bookmaker, one of the players, was killed and a second player seriously wounded. The assailant was another bookmaker, Joe Fenton.

Fenton left in an automobile and later was followed to his home by two detectives. Confronted by the officers, Fenton pointed two revolvers at them and threatened to kill them. The detectives remained unarmed until one of them suddenly produced a metal cigarette case from his hip pocket and pointed it at Fenton, who fled into a bedroom and locked the door. A moment later they heard a shot. They burst the door and found Fenton dead, shot through the head.

ROBBERS HUNTED IN OKANAGAN VALLEY

Vernon, B.C., Oct. 25.—Three robberies at Enderby, a wrecked automobile at Lansdowne, by the side of which there was a big pool of blood, and another pool discovered on the top of a box car on the C.N.R., are subjects of investigation by Okanagan Valley police, who hope to apprehend some men, who they believe have some intimate knowledge of the events. The discoveries were made yesterday.

Saskatchewan Has World Champion Cow

Moore Jaw, Oct. 25.—Canary Korn-dyke Alcantara, a Holstein-Friesian cow owned by Ben H. Thompson of Benham, Sask., has been declared world champion butterfat producer. Mr. Thompson yesterday received a telegram from the livestock commissioner at Ottawa notifying him his cow had won the world championship with 1,080 pounds of butterfat for 305 days, or 106 pounds more than any previous record holder. In the 305-day period the cow produced 26,396 pounds of milk with an average test of 4.04 butterfat.

Coolidge Hopes For Progress With Navy Reduction

Washington, Oct. 25.—The only benefit President Coolidge believes the cause of naval disarmament gained by the recent Franco-British agreement is that both those nations showed themselves willing to change the attitude they had maintained at previous conferences. Therefore he feels they may be induced to change their views still further and bring themselves in line with United States ideas as to naval limitation.

Apart from this hope, President Coolidge believes the agreement has not advanced much the cause of naval disarmament. He holds that Italy and Japan, although not replying to the Franco-British suggestion in as great a detail as the United States, are also antagonistic to the plan.

The net result of the agreement, therefore, President Coolidge feels, is that two of the main naval powers, one of which, France, did not attend the Geneva Naval Conference of 1921, altered their attitude in a way unacceptable to the remaining three great naval powers of the world. This, he regards as little effective progress for naval reduction unless France and Great Britain can be induced further to change their views.

The Washington Government appeared to be only mildly interested in the publication in London of the British White Paper revealing the correspondence and provisions of the Anglo-French naval compromise, which was rejected by this Government September 28 in an identical note addressed to Great Britain and France.

Melchett Speaks Of Reparations

New York, Oct. 25.—Lord Melchett (Sir Alfred Mond), speaking last night at a dinner closing the Fifth Conference of Major Industries of the United States, asserted Great Britain had no desire to reopen the debt settlement with the United States and asked that this country, if it wished to take no part in the settlement of German reparations problems, "at least should not get in the way."

"Our difficulties in Europe are great enough," he said, "but we feel we are competent to deal with European problems. Whenever an attempt is made in Europe to come together, we are always greeted with suspicion and hostility on the part of the people on this side of the ocean, who attribute to us all kinds of motives which never enter our minds."

LANGSNER IS TO BE GIVEN FUNDS

The Vienna criminologist will make a further statement to the Attorney-General's Department as to the exact nature of his proposal, following which there will be further discussions with Deputy Police Commissioner Alfred Cuddy.

STATES HIS HOPES

"I know who is the most guilty party in connection with the death of Ambrose Small," said Dr. Langsner, in an interview with The Toronto Star yesterday. "And I also know that to-day that party is weakening. It is more than probable that in a short while a sensational announcement in connection with the case will emanate from another city. I expect this announcement will be made before long."

The Toronto Telegram states Dr. Langsner holds the theory, which has been aired in Toronto ever since the disappearance of the theatrical magnate, that the body of Small was buried in a Rosedale ravine, at a point where rubbish was being dumped, in the winter of 1919.

MIDDLE WEST GREAT PUZZLE TO PROPHETS

256 VOTES NEEDED

Even should New York go Democratic, it is questioned if Governor Smith can carry sufficient states in the rest of the Union to secure the necessary 266 votes in the Electoral College.

Should Al Smith win, he would, except for the narrow victory of Woodrow Wilson for his second term, be the first Democratic President elected in a straight fight since the days of Cleveland.

Washington, Oct. 25. (Canadian Press)—The battleground in the United States presidential fight is shifting to the farm states of the Middle West. Republicans and Democrats alike are marshalling additional strength, both intending to fight hard for the third party vote which went in the last Presidential election to the late Senator La Follette.

Definite announcement by Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska that he was throwing in his lot with the Democratic nominee has intensified the struggle. Senator Norris is the Senate leader of the Progressive group formerly led by Senator La Follette. At Portland, Ore., last night he roundly declared the only place for a Progressive was in the camp of Governor

SMITH'S VIEWS ON FARM RELIEF AND THE POWER MONOPOLY.

"I am not with Governor Smith on his stand on prohibition," the Senator added, "but I think that will be worked satisfactorily if he is elected."

The strength of Senator Norris is chiefly in the five states of Wisconsin, the two Dakotas, Nebraska and Minnesota.

In the farm states of the Middle West both sides offer varying schemes of farm relief.

Boston, Oct. 25.—Alfred E. Smith opened his final drive for election as President of the United States by hitting back at Herbert Hoover, who he declared had described the Democratic theory of public ownership and PUBLIC DEVELOPMENT AS "STATE SOCIALISM," AND AT THE SAME TIME USED WORDS "TO CONVEY" RATHER THAN CONVEY A MEANING.

Before a shouting audience that packed the Boston Arena last night the Democratic Presidential candidate took issue with the statements of his Republican rival on the questions of water power, farm relief and prohibition and declared the time had come when the need of the nation was leadership.

Governor Smith's overnight stay in Boston was almost one of continuous shouting from the moment he arrived until after he had retired to his room. After the night's speech he was the centre of a cheering crowd which 900 police were unable to hold.

CRICKET VS. CRIME

THE REPETITION BY MR. POOLEY IN a speech in Esquimalt yesterday evening of his declaration in the press some time ago that he would not permit political interference with the provincial police, and that he himself would keep his hands off this service, will continue to give satisfaction. Some critics will see in this declaration, however, an inconsistency alongside his further statement that he had ordered cases in which evidence has been obtained by the provincial police by "stool-pigeons" throughout the province withdrawn. The provincial police, like the police of every other province, state or city throughout the world, often have had to use this method of obtaining evidence against criminals, and the banning of it at the instance of the Attorney-General, therefore, means that in this respect the department is not permitted entirely to run itself. It is only fair to say, however, that Mr. Pooley always has opposed the employment of "stool-pigeons" and his present course is consistent with the attitude he assumed before he took office. At Esquimalt last night, he mentioned this fact, pointing out that the use of "stool-pigeons" was not cricket, a game he had played all his life and the rules of which would continue to guide his policy.

The Attorney-General's ban upon the use of "stool-pigeons" will be hailed with enthusiasm by the element in whose interest the order certainly is not intended. It will prove to be a bonanza to law-breakers in those districts of the province in which the provincial police operates, since no police force, no matter how efficient, can cope with the criminal class without employing this method in some measure. Beyond question the use of informers of this type in locating crooks admittedly is not in keeping with the rules of cricket. Nor is the use of crooks as witnesses in court against crooks in keeping with those rules. But, unfortunately, criminals do not play according to cricket rules. They do not even play on the same field, and if the provincial police pursue their activities under these rules and law-breakers use any old rules, the two teams never will meet: and the crooks will win by default. It is far better in the interests of society to use a "stool-pigeon," or any other kind of a pigeon, to catch and convict a murderer than it is to allow that criminal to remain at large and kill a number of people. The underworld spotter is not an exemplary citizen, but he is safer than a human tiger preying upon society.

The use of "stool-pigeons" in other words underworld spies or informers, to trap criminals and obtain evidence is as old as the detection of crime itself. The British Columbia Court of Appeal some time ago pointed out that this practice had been in operation in England for centuries. As a matter of fact, as far as the English-speaking countries are concerned, it was invented in the Old Country. Scotland Yard uses it extensively. This great police organization gets a lot of its information from the criminal class. It has to, since all its officers are known to the experts of the underworld. During the war practically every Government resorted to this method on a vast scale, and under different names, and there was scarcely a large capital in the world in which bribery, theft and blackmail were not resorted to for the purpose of obtaining military secrets.

If Mr. Pooley's ban against the use of "stool-pigeons" were adopted by the police commissions of British Columbia's cities, these places would not be fit to live in within a very short time. The gangsters of the American underworld would set up their organizations on this side of the line and, knowing every policeman, detective and special operative by sight, who would be handicapped by the rules of cricket in their activities, they would have a veritable picnic. Their leaders, of course, never would be convicted, since it would be impossible to get evidence against them. They would continue battling under their own rules in every field of crime, not even knocking off for afternoon tea.

Undoubtedly the "stool-pigeon" system is nasty business, but at least it can be controlled easily by its employers. Crime on a large scale is a nastier business and cannot be easily controlled. It is not pleasant, perhaps not even ethical, to have to descend to the gutter to catch criminals and secure evidence with which to convict them, but unfortunately it must be done, because criminals can do much greater damage to society from the gutter than is done by any means employed by the police to put an end to them. There is no common ground for cricket and the capture and conviction of criminals.

THE TECHNICAL SCHOOL BYLAW

IT SHOULD BE SAFE TO ASSUME THAT the City Council will approve the Technical School bylaw which the Board of School Trustees has submitted to it. In its essential features it does not differ from the one upon which the taxpayers voted last April.

A number of important points should be borne in mind by those who vote on the project this time: 1. The present High School was built to accommodate one thousand pupils; 2. The enrolment this term is 1,339; 3. Rooms in the Boys' Central School are being used by two classes taking mathematics and a number of technical students; 4. Basement rooms in the High School some time ago were turned into classrooms in order that the congestion might be relieved; 5. If a Technical School shall not be built, the Board of School Trustees will be compelled to press for new High School premises designed to accommodate at least five hundred pupils.

The foregoing points merely relate to accommodation. Other points are those involving cost: 1. A Technical School considered suitable to meet requirements would cost, including equipment, $250,000; 2. Of this amount the taxpayers of Victoria would be asked to supply $145,000; 3. The province, on a fifty-fifty arrangement with the Dominion, would contribute the remaining $105,000—on a basis of forty per cent. towards the building and fifty per cent. towards equipment; 4. A new High School capable of accommodating 500 pupils would cost somewhere between $300,000 and $400,000; 5. All this money would have to be supplied by the taxpayers of this city; there would be no government grant.

We have dealt with the subject from the point of view of accommodation and cost. A Technical School is a necessity in this community if our young men and women who intend to follow commercial careers are to be given advantages enjoyed by the young men and women of other progressive communities.

DR. KING AND PENSIONS

UNTIL HON. J. H. KING COMPARED the figures in his address on Tuesday night it is very likely that only a few people in Victoria knew that the pensions paid to disabled veterans in Canada were considerably higher than the pensions paid in the United States. The Minister was able to assure his audience that "the Canadian people have the most liberal pensions law in the world."

There is more involved in the administration of the Department over which Dr. King presides than the satisfaction he derives in comparing Canada's favorable treatment to returned men with that of other countries. Dr. King realized the truth of this when he accepted the portfolio after the general election of 1926, for he lost no time in familiarizing himself with the operation of the Pensions Act, mainly with the object of imparting more elasticity to provisions that were incapable of meeting the unusual case. It was apparent to him, first as a medical man and secondly as an administrator of long experience in the public service of the country, that no pensions law intended to serve disabled veterans could be operated with adequate justice unless in its administration its spirit and letter were tempered with sympathy and common sense. The many conferences he has had with returned men during the last twelve months has enabled him to remove a number of irritating anomalies and prevent hardship, especially under the head of recurrent disabilities, such, for instance, as are far from common in tubercular subjects.

It is only natural that the former members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force who carry the more serious permanent marks of their service to their country should appreciate the sympathetic spirit which Dr. King has brought to the task with which he is entrusted.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

PROFESSIONAL SOLDIERS AND WAR

The Vancouver Star
Lord Allenby told interviewers in New York last night that the Kellogg pact marks a definite advance towards world peace, and that the world must give up its militant methods if civilization is to endure. The professional fighting man not only has been opposed, as a class, to programmes looking towards peace, but has, in the past, been a definite and potent cause of war.

With a show of pomp and power he has fed national vanities and incited nationalistic ambitions of conquest. He has diverted national funds from industrial purposes to military purposes. He has built up huge war machines that sooner or later had to be tried out against other war machines.

The philosophy of the professional fighting man has been the direct antithesis of the philosophy of the industrialist, whose prosperity must be founded in peace. The professional soldier must find his fortunes in war. Therefore he looks and works for war.

Lord Allenby seems to be an exception.

YOUNG SETTLERS

The Toronto Star
The notable successes that have been won in this country by immigrants have been won mostly—although not exclusively—by those who came here young. Now and then a boy is reported in the press in which a boy from the old country appears to have been badly used by the farmer in whose charge he has been placed. As a rule, we believe, they are well used and the steps taken to see that injustice is not done these immigrants are constantly being made more effective.

PROHIBITION

The New York Herald-Tribune
We do not underestimate the importance of the prohibition issue. It seems to us to concern vitally the morals and well-being of the nation. If there were any swift and easy solution of it in sight, we would welcome it. But we see none, and we are confident there is none. A vote for Governor Smith would be a mere gesture of defiance which could scarcely fail to react against reform.

DEMOCRACY

To the Editor:—Those who heard the able and interesting address on Monday evening of the Hon. H. H. Stevens, as well as many others will, I am sure, thoroughly appreciate the cogency and clarity of your presentation, yesterday of the other side. Even Mr. Stevens, by his contention that "the sense of justice is inherent in all men, even savages," holds out a great hope that democracy can and will function yet. Was it not his purpose thus to hold out hope?

At any rate, we must after all really trust "the people," bringing them up, meanwhile, to that intelligent and ethical standard where we can do so with a genuine and growing assurance.

INCONSISTENT

To the Editor:—Believing that the jewel of consistency is an adornment equally becoming to editors as to ordinary mortals, it is interesting to refer to the inconsistency in the Colonist of October 24, dealing with Canada's imports from the United States.

The editorial referred to is summed up in the following sentence: "Canada bought from the United States during the month of August goods to the value of $20,740, most of which could just as well have been manufactured in this country." and then goes on to make per capita comparisons of the value of purchases between Canada and the United States.

The casual reader will probably take these figures and statements at face value, but those who study the question will easily recognize that element of half-truth which is so often used to hide the realities of the case for political purposes.

Let us, by considering the mechanical equipment of the newspaper and consider whether or not consistency can properly be claimed as a virtue by the writer of that article.

First, we find linotype machines for setting up the type (probably a dozen of them at about $2,000 each) and made in New York. Monotype equipment for casting display type, made in New York. Stereotyping equipment made in the United States. Web press made in New York. Mechanical and type equipment for commercial printing, lithography and off-set printing and engraving, probably nearly all American made; also matt service for advertising from the United States, and syndicated news service from New York.

It is not intended to reflect upon anyone by the foregoing, but it is submitted that a man should be willing to be measured by his own yardstick. Perhaps it may be contended that these varied articles of equipment are not manufactured in Canada and therefore one has no choice in purchasing them.

This is true in many respects, but this fact only further reveals the inconsistency in their position. Up to about the year 1912 or 1913, when Sir Robert Borden's Conservative Government came into power, three different styles of typesetting machines were made in Canada—the typograph, the monoline and the linotype. Then the first two were absorbed by the third and manufacture discontinued, and the Canadian linotype factory at Montreal was closed.

The irony of the situation is further shown in the fact that typesetting machines and presses used for newspaper publishing were for a time and I believe still are, brought in free of duty. The "power of the press" may be a big influence with tariff boards, but it is difficult to see the justice of this exemption when so many important industries as farming, lumbering, mining, fishing, etc., should have to bear the burden of heavy duties.

In making figures, purporting to show Canada in unfavorable comparison in international trade, the Colonist apparently gives no consideration to the fact that upwards from 80 per cent of the outside capital invested in Canada comes from the United States. Also that millions of American tourists come to Canada every year in quest of pleasure taking away with them in exchange for their $275,000,000 only the recollection of their experiences. These figures are not inconsiderable and are not shown in statistical trade returns. While these and many other benefits which Canada derives from friendly association with her big neighbor should be encouraged, Canadians are cognizant of the fact that wherever possible they should trade at home. They do not need to be served with grained and politically colored statements to be reminded of their duty. We agree with the Colonist that "Canada for Canadians" is a beautiful and worthwhile sentiment, and that every effort should be exerted to bring it into reality, but we also submit that those who live in glass houses should occasionally pull down the blinds.

MR. STRAIT'S ADDRESS

To the Editor:—Your issue of last night gave a wrong impression with regard to my address before the Round Table on Monday evening.

The Round Table is a club where national issues are discussed from all points of view, and on Monday evening it was my duty to discuss the negative side of the immigration question. I explained to the members the viewpoint of some pessimists in Canada, who would limit immigration as far as possible. I realize, however, that the great majority of the Canadian people believe that many of our Canadian national problems, and some problems of the Empire can only be solved by well considered policy of immigration and Empire settlement on the part of our Dominion and Provincial Governments. On Monday evening, I had only time to deal with the negative arguments with regard to immigration, but on a future occasion I shall have an opportunity of dealing with the affirmative aspect of the case before the same club.

I am writing to you because I think it is wrong to have an impression made that any group of Canadians are opposed to immigration to Canada, and I may say that my audience, as well as myself, were not greatly impressed with the negative arguments which are put forward by a few pessimists in our country, but feel that a sane immigration policy will mean the solution of many of our problems.

WM. T. STRAIT.

STILL A STUDENT

To the Editor:—I would be grateful if you would kindly insert the following:

Nine months ago the writer assisted in a musical recital in this city. Prior to the concert, announcement appeared in the press that this event was to be the occasion of the writer's debut, which statement was incorrect and unfair to the performer, who was then and still is a student.

A later issue partially corrected this error, but the misconception has persisted.

A CORRECTION

To the Editor:—In your issue of the 18th inst. regarding the Coach and Horses fire, it reads one of the first tenants was the late Mrs. Simpson, which is not so. W. J. (Barney) Dillon was a first tenant, and after Mr. Dillon was the late W. B. Smith, who later was proprietor of the Victoria Undertaking Parlor, Johnson Street. Mrs. Simpson took over the "Coach" on Mr. Smith's retirement from the hotel business, some twenty odd years ago.

U.S. Imports Gold From Great Britain

New York, Oct. 25.—The National Bank of New York announced to-day it had made arrangements for the shipment of $2,000,000 gold from Great Britain aboard the liner Mauretania Saturday. The gold is to-day being unchanged at $4.86. This will further augment shipments in recent weeks that have reached a total of $12,000,000.

WORK ON RUFUS TO BE RESUMED, DUTHIE STATES

Seattle, Oct. 25 (By Canadian Press).—Development of the Rufus Argenta Mine on the Portland Canal, halted by heavy snow, probably will be resumed when the weather permits, said J. F. Duthie, president of the Wallace Bridge and Steel Company, who holds a purchase option on the mine.

Mr. Duthie's statement came in the wake of a Canadian Press dispatch from Victoria, B.C., quoting P. C. Elliott of Victoria as saying "There is absolutely not a word of truth in the report which has been put in circulation that the mines have been thrown up by J. F. Duthie."

Mr. Elliott is secretary-treasurer of the company.

Excessive cost in attempting to carry on the work of diamond drilling at the mine in the winter months was given as the reason for suspension of work. Lynch Brothers of Seattle have been doing the drilling and their diamond drill is still on the site, Mr. Duthie said.

The mine is being developed in the hope it will produce gold, copper and silver.

Emmanuel M.S.—A meeting of unusual interest under the auspices of the Women's Mission Circle of Emmanuel Baptist Church was held on Tuesday afternoon. The programme consisted of short addresses on missionary work, and vocal solos by Mrs. Godson and Miss M. McParlane, with Miss Q. Shields as accompanist. The hankoffering was a very generous one. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Any Woman Can Look Stylish

MAE MARTIN

Most stylish looking women know simple ways to make last season's things conform to this season's styles. Thousands of them have learned how easily they can transform a dress or blouse, or coat, by the quick magic of home tinting or dyeing. With true, fadeless Diamond Dyes, anyone can do this successfully. The "knowhow" is in the dyes. Diamond Dyes don't streak or spot like inferior dyes. New, fashionable tints appear like magic over the out-of-style or faded colors. Tinting with Diamond Dyes is easy as bluing, and dyeing takes just a little more time. Only Diamond Dyes produce perfect results. They have been perfected by over 50 years' experience. Insist on them and save disappointment.

"IMMORTAL" WOMAN HAD EXTRAORDINARY CAREER

Late Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson Raised and Spent Millions in Advertising and Broadcasting Sermons; Carpenter's Daughter Had Amazing Magnetism.

The recent death of Mrs. Augusta E. Stetson, once favored disciple of Mary Eddy and claimant to immortality, brought to a close one of the most astonishing careers ever enjoyed by a woman.

Sprung from old Puritan stock, the daughter of a New England carpenter, contradictions stood out in her character. Although she was nearly eighty-seven years of age, she had always kept her age a secret, and it was not discovered until after her death. She insisted that she was physically immortal and would never die, that is, in a bodily sense, she refused to acknowledge the wrinkles that age put into her own countenance and the stoop that the years had brought.

STARTED AS METHODIST

Several years ago a town fire destroyed her birth records in Maine and this deepened the mystery of her origin. However, piecing out the story, it appears that her father, Peabody Simmons, was a carpenter. One of five children, Augusta soon moved with the family to another Maine town, Bangor, where she grew up to be a Methodist, and a member of the church and a singer in the choir.

When she was twenty-four she married a ship-builder, Frederick Stetson, who was a good deal of an invalid in consequence of having been thrown into a hospital by the Confederates during the Civil War.

LIVED IN BOMBAY

Stetson went abroad with an English trading firm and, with his wife, lived for a time in Bombay. Her bent for mysticism may have been intensified by this contact with the East. When the invalid shipbuilder and his wife returned, Mrs. Stetson strove to find some outlet for her energies in Boston, the centre of American culture at that time. She studied occultism under Prof. Blish, and attained some distinction for she was a woman of striking appearance and mental power. Her accomplishments attracted Mrs. Eddy, evidently, just as Mrs. Eddy's personality attracted Mrs. Stetson. She was forty-four years of age when she was invited to attend the lectures Mrs. Eddy was then giving on Monument Hill, across the river Charles.

SPENT MILLIONS

Backed by the prestige of Mrs. Eddy and heralded by glowing reports of her ability and magnetism, in 1888 she entered in New York at once upon a very successful career. She started with her students, she raised $1,250,000 to build the First Church at Central Park West and Ninety-sixth Street, New York, and at the same time her followers built for her the adjoining mansion, a fine grey-stone structure, luxuriously finished with Carrera marble stairways and rich fixtures. Between 1920 and 1925 she spent more than $750,000 in advertising her sermons and lectures in daily newspapers and in out-of-year ads in the magazines. During the same time she was expending close to half a million dollars for the upkeep of her "radio pulpit," as WHAP was called.

WOMAN OF MYSTERY

Mrs. Stetson was always a woman of some mystery, and obscurity covers both the number of her followers in New York and the amount of money which she raised through them. There was never any bookkeeping; the money flew in and out of her hands as if it had wings. The amounts were rumored to be stupendous. She admitted that since 1920 she had been spending more than $250,000 annually. When asked by inquisitive newspaper men how she got this money she would smile and say gently, with a Biblical intonation: "From the mouth."

FOUNDED RADIO STATION

Another discrepancy in her character was charged in connection with her founding of the radio station WHAP. At first this station had its microphones in Mrs. Stetson's magnificent home and she would give readings regularly to an estimated audience of 50,000. And although she had all her life preached the perfection of life through love, and maintained that God is love, this broadcasting station, managed by Ford, her then secretary, came to be condemned before the Federal Radio Commission hearings at Washington as the most virulent focal point of anti-Catholic and anti-Jewish propaganda in the United States.

DIFFERENCES WITH CHURCH

Mrs. Stetson had been like a meteor across the sky of the Mother Church of Christ Scientist. Followers multiplied and never had there been such prosperity as in New York. But differences arose over dogma and other matters, and finally, in 1909, after years of attack and counter-attack, charges of materialism and "malicious animal magnetism," with the newspapers filled with columns about the bitter religious controversy, Mrs. Stetson was separated from any connection with the Mother Church, but she retained her faith in Mrs. Eddy to the last.

CHILDREN TO SEE ARTS EXHIBITION

Over 200 visitors attended the exhibition on the opening day and a number of pictures were purchased. The collection will remain on view until the end of the month.

L'ALLIANCE PLANS WINTER LECTURES

Daniel Michnot Coming From France on January 16

The inaugural meeting of L'Alliance Francaise for the winter season was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Madame E. Sanderson-Mongin, Laurel Lane, when a large number of old and new members assembled to discuss plans for the forthcoming fortnightly meetings, and to hear of the prospective course of four lectures which will be given, according to the annual custom.

Madame G. Hallet, president of L'Alliance, welcomed the members and spoke regretfully of the absence of the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Hamilton Smith, owing to her recent bereavement, and to whom a special vote of sympathy was voiced by the meeting.

Madame Sanderson-Mongin read a resume of the programme of last year, which included fortnightly meetings at her home, with one delightful reunion at the home of Mrs. Stevens; addresses by Mr. M. George Hallet, Dr. Priesewick, Count Jean de Sussanne, and the official lecturer, Madame Caro Delvalle. The final meetings of the last season were held at the homes of the president, Madame Hallet, and the treasurer, Mrs. Hamilton Smith.

TO GIVE BURSARY

It was gratifying to members to learn that the bursary presented annually by L'Alliance Francaise to the student making the best French record at Victoria College, and which was doubled last year, since two students had gained equal standing, will be given again this year. The winners of last year are continuing their studies, one at Victoria College, the other at the University of British Columbia.

Already this season L'Alliance has been favored by a lecture by Madame J'Ambricourt, who also spoke informally and recited for the members at the afternoon reception at the home of Madame Sanderson-Mongin.

LECTURE COMING

The official lecturer sent out annually by the Federation National, will arrive in Victoria to address L'Alliance and all lovers of French on January 16. Spirited voting on a variety of subjects embraced in the lecture course of M. Daniel Michnot, this year's lecturer, followed the announcement of his coming, "Madame Rejane and Coquelin" being the chosen topic.

Members were reminded that the days of meetings will continue the same, the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month. This year's programme will insure wide interest. Members will be asked to speak upon subjects of their own selection, the address to be followed by questions and discussions.

An interesting hour was spent in conversation while the members were guests of the hostess at tea. Madame de Bortin presided at the prettily appointed tea table, and quantities of autumn flowers brightened the rooms.

COURT UPHOLDS PEDESTRIAN

Vancouver Woman Motorist Loses Appeal Against Damage Suit

Vancouver, Oct. 25.—Pedestrians had their day in the Court of Appeal when their lordships, without calling on counsel for the respondent, dismissed the appeal of Mrs. Phoebe Marion Blain, Windermere Apartments, from Judge Ruggles' judgment in County Court, requiring her to pay $359 damages.

Driving her automobile in Stanley Park on October 23, 1927, Mrs. Blain, 1414 Wolfe Avenue, ran over and killed a dog named Nettle, owned by Mrs. Irene Egan, a minor, and a stenographer. Miss Egan was awarded $300 damages, and her father, Vancouver.

Thank offering meeting—The Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held a very successful thank offering meeting in the church parlor last night, with a capacity audience. Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell gave a most interesting and enlightening exposition of his work in the Chinese mission field, illustrating it with a series of attractive slides. A. W. Trevett contributed vocal solos.

Wife—I made a terrible hit at the club this afternoon.

Rubby—Make a speech?

Wife—No, but I wore my dress hat I just had cleaned and the odor of gasoline was so prevalent that everybody thought we had a car. We'll have to get one now, dear.

Quality counts in Spool Silk. That is why so many women insist on Corticelli. It is so uniformly strong and elastic—there are so many shades, and so many colors, and so many patterns, and so many styles, and so many sizes, and so many prices, and so many other will satisfy.

On behalf of the appellant, J. A. MacInnes argued that there was a duty on Miss Enman, who was crossing the main highway when she was struck, to have looked out for the automobile. Chief Justice MacDonald disagreed with this view of the case. He pointed out that Mrs. Blain had a distance of over fifty yards within which to have avoided the accident.

Ernie Leacock Comes To Victoria Cubs In Latest Hockey Trade

Obtained From Portland Rosebuds In Trade That Sends "Chick" Baun to Bobby Rowe's Club; Played With Victoria Amateur Team Last Season; Victoria Players Will Arrive Here November 5; Downie and Robertson In Training at Vancouver

Managers of the four clubs in the revived Pacific Coast Hockey Association have commenced the usual shuffle of players and Victorians will be pleased to hear of a trade put over by Stanley Patrick, president of the Victoria Cubs, at the recent annual meeting of the league in Seattle.

"Chick" Baun, former member of the Vancouver Monarchs, and the property of the Victoria team, has been traded to Bobby Rowe of the Portland Rosebuds, in exchange for Ernie Leacock, former Banff player. This deal was announced by Patrick to-day.

PLAYED LAST YEAR

Victoria fans will remember Leacock as the tall, fair-haired defence player who performed a couple of times last season on the Victoria team. Weighing 170 pounds and just twenty-two years of age, he is a promising prospect. Early this fall Leacock was signed by Bobby Rowe, but he has turned him over to the Victoria team in exchange for Baun, for whom he always had a liking. Baun played a couple of games with the Rosebuds last season, when Rowe was acting as their manager.

Leacock will be popular with Victoria fans. He played good hockey last season and, with a little more experience under his belt, should develop into a first-class defence man.

The Victoria players will begin to arrive here to start their training session on November 5. The boys will have to get into good shape, as they have a strenuous schedule to meet. On November 19 the Cubs will oppose Vancouver in the opening game of the season at Vancouver. They will come right back to Victoria to play the Lions here the following night.

TRAIN IN VANCOUVER

Downie and Robertson, last year's members of the Vancouver Monarchs, who have been signed by the Victoria club, have commenced their training already in Vancouver. The arena having opened there yesterday. By the time they reach Victoria these players will be in good condition.

Stanley Patrick, on his return from Seattle, was loud in his praise of the new arena which is to be the home of the Sound club. Built entirely of cement and equipped with a first-class ice plant, the new auditorium is located right in the heart of the city.

The Seattle arena is expected to be opened on November 7, while the rink at Portland is billed to throw open its doors to-night.

Engineers at the Victoria arena have put the ice-making machinery in action and all is in readiness for the opening of the rink on November 5.

Another player signed by Stan Patrick is George Dame, one of the most promising amateur stickhandlers in Edmonton last season. In his early twenties he weighs around 180 pounds and is a fast skater, and packs a deadly shot. He plays either a defence or wing position. Dame will report here with the remainder of the team on November 5, and the railbirds will watch him with interest.

CEDARS AND OAKS WIN HOOP GAMES

Ernie Harwood's Cedars from the junior businessmen's class were successful in posing out Sam Hill's Pines from the young men's division. The Cedars won the game by a score of 22-18 in a close basketball game in the Y.M.C.A. House League last night. The Pines got away to a fast start, and a basket by Brooks and two by Darbyshire gave them a six-point lead. This was overcome by the remarkable shooting of Bob Peden, who scored ten points in the first half of the game, making the score at half time read 14-11. The winners just managed to hold that lead throughout the second half.

Jack Brown refereed. In the second game the Oaks and Pines tangled in a very exciting game, which resulted in a victory for the Oaks. The Pines led at half time by a score of 20-15, but the Oak's line-up was strengthened by the addition of Gordon Woolridge in the second half, and they finally overcame the lead and finished with a tremendous burst of speed to make the score board read: Oaks 42, Pines 28. Vic Shoemaker refereed.

The team lined up as follows: Cedars—E. Harwood, Cook, Butler, Peden and Wright. Oaks—MacEwen, Woolridge, Fraser, Davey, Moore and Hammond. Pines—McPherson, Engleison, Bradshaw, Cameron and Pater.

RENNIES STILL HOLD MID-WEEK SOCCER LEAD

League Leaders Score 2-1 Victory Over Hudson's Bay in Hard-fought Game

Winning Goal Comes From Penalty Kick; Navy and Saanich United Draw

Rennie and Taylor, undefeated leaders of the Wednesday Football League, added two more points to their win column yesterday afternoon when they handed the Hudson's Bay eleven a 2-1 defeat at the Royal Athletic Park.

By their victory the Bakers now have a comfortable lead in the mid-week league. In the other game played yesterday the Navy and Saanich United played to a two-all draw at Beacon Hill.

The Bakers continued on their victorious march yesterday when they sent the Hudson's Bay eleven down to a 2-1 defeat in the mid-week soccer fixture at the Royal Athletic Park, while the Navy and Saanich United played to a two-all draw at Beacon Hill.

From the opening of the game the Bakers had an edge over their opponents and only the excellent performance of Shrimpton in the Hudson's Bay goal and the inactive shooting of Rennie's forwards prevented the score from being much higher. Two minutes of play had not elapsed before Davis, left wing for the Bakers, sent in a fast shot on a forward rush. But Shrimpton stopped the ball and sent it up to his forwards. However, the Rennie's came right back and hammered away at the Bay goal, but without any success.

During this period the losers had been playing with only ten men, but when Kirkwood joined them the Bays went on to make a powerful machine. But Shrimpton stopped the ball and sent it up to his forwards. However, the Rennie's came right back and hammered away at the Bay goal, but without any success.

When the ball was cleared, Rennie again took the offensive and, although Davis and Taylor, on the wings, sent in fine centres in front of the Hudson's Bay goal, the forwards could not find the net with their shots.

DAVIS SCORES

Davis netted the first tally for the Bakers two minutes before the half-time whistle when he slammed in a shot which was too fast for the Bay goalkeeper to stop. The goal was the result of a well-planned forward rush in which every member of the Bakers' first line of attack participated. From the centre the losers forced the play into the Rennie half, but were unable to score.

Play resumed at the two ends for the first half of the second period, with both teams sending in good shots on their opponents' goal.

May inside left for the Hudson's Bay finally evened the score with a low shot after dribbling through the Baker defence. Both squads tried hard to net the deciding counter, but the respective goalies stopped shot after shot.

SCORE ON PENALTY

The final goal was scored on a penalty shot awarded to the winners when Jack Clark handled the ball in the penalty area. McKinnon sent in a hard drive which Shrimpton could not stop. The losers made a desperate effort to tie the count and their forwards finally succeeded in putting the ball between the posts, only to learn that one of their men was offside when the shot was taken.

The closing minutes of the game saw both sides doing their utmost to score, but the final whistle sounded with the count standing at 2-1 in favor of the Bakers.

Hewison refereed. The teams were as follows: Rennie and Taylors—Geddes, Newman, Tupman, Woods, McKinnon, Stewart, Taylor, McClintock, Almond, Purdy and Davies. Hudson's Bay—Shrimpton, Gardiner, Armstrong, Oakman, Clark, Cull, Addie, Fish, Raven, Main and Kirkwood. (Concluded on page 9)

McDUFFER RIFLE SHOOTING

By BARRIE PAYNE

Exceptionally good scores were made by the riflemen of the 55th and 56th Batteries of the Fifth Canadian Artillery at their first indoor shoot of the season held in the Armories on Tuesday evening. The winners of the sweepstake were as follows: First, Sgt. Quayle; second, S.M. Hatcher; third, Capt. Gadsden; fourth, Gunner Carey; fifth, Sgt. Rudge; sixth, Gunner Hall.

NEWER MODELS

Marred by weather, last year's climb, although it produced plenty of excitement, did not bring forth the competition it might have. A larger number of entries, including more of the late model machines, will this year make the going stiff in all classes, however, and every rider will have to get the utmost out of his bike to "angle into the money."

A new feature this year will be an open class for "eighty"-inch motors. This will bring into competition the best and most powerful of all the "bikes" in the city and will mean some pretty fine riding. Owing to their speed and lightness, the small motorized bikes show up exceptionally well, but with some expert maneuvering on the bigger machines, this event will not be a cinch for any of them. It is claimed.

Other events will be for the "45" class, the "74" class and the "37" class motors.

RECORDS EXPECTED

In last year's climb, the "45" event will undoubtedly prove one of the features of the meet. A new hill record was set by Joe Wheeler, riding a "45" last year and he scooted off with all the honors he could lay hands on, having no serious competition. There will be at least four motors of this type in the running this time, however, and it will be the rider's judgment and skill which will take him to

Food for the Rail Birds — By Jimmy Thompson

WHO HAS MADE THE TIGER TEAM, THE TEAM TO BEAT FOR THE EASTERN CHAMPIONSHIP

MIKE IS ONE OF CANADA'S GREATEST SPORT WRITERS

WHO TOOK OVER THE COACHING OF THE BLUE AND WHITE RUGBY SQUAD

It won't be long now before the rail birds start to pick the gridiron winners or at least make a brave attempt at it. The Eastern Rugby Union is one hard nut to crack in trying to pick the good thing, but this year there is a wide preference, for apparently the Bengals of Hamilton is the team to beat for the Dominion honors this season.

Mike Rodden, the go-getter coach of the jungletown pets, has kept his team together and wisely made a few changes for the better. Although the loss of "Pep" Leadley was greatly felt, Mike has secured the services of the Delta College star, "Ruck" Welch, whose booting has been a sensation this year. Tigers on the whole look to be a powerful machine.

In the Intercollegiate Union there was an upset at the start of the season, when the Varsity twelve handed the Tri-color a trimming in their own back yard at Kingston. This has made the Blue and White look like a championship outfit. However, the old McGill boys upset that by trimming the Blue and White right in their home grounds, 16-7.

Les Blackwell, the new coach of the University of Toronto this year, was up against a tough proposition as far as a medal was concerned as the Varsity apparently hadn't a star to build a team around. But as the season passes on the Blue and White looks up as having a good chance to be in the finals and the credit should certainly be put down to Les Blackwell's efforts.

Again this coming Saturday Queen's will meet the Varsity students in their own grounds and no doubt there will be a battle royal before a crowd of eighteen or twenty thousand fans.

Motorcyclists Eager For November Climb

Record Entry List Is Assured for Annual Event at Mount Douglas Park on Thanksgiving Day; Special "Eighty"-Inch Class Will Feature Best Machines In City; New Marks on Steep Slope Are Expected for This Year's Climb

Sawn-off headlights, a few open cutouts and several mudguardless motorcycles running around the city at this time of the year indicates that something big is brewing in that line. Persons in the neighborhood of Mount Douglas on a Saturday afternoon or Sunday morning will hear weird and muffled roars, broken by staccato barking as the boys of the Victoria Motorcycle Club tune up their mounts for the annual hill climb.

The big event of the year for motorcycle riders will take place on Thanksgiving Day, November 12, officials of the club announced to-day. With motorcycle riding retaining popularity in Victoria, the climb this year is expected to be the best ever staged here.

The club has been at work several weeks now on preparations for the climb. Permission has been granted again for use of the steep grade of Mount Douglas for the test and the boys have been working energetically to get the course in shape and provide some real thrills.

Marred by weather, last year's climb, although it produced plenty of excitement, did not bring forth the competition it might have. A larger number of entries, including more of the late model machines, will this year make the going stiff in all classes, however, and every rider will have to get the utmost out of his bike to "angle into the money."

A new feature this year will be an open class for "eighty"-inch motors. This will bring into competition the best and most powerful of all the "bikes" in the city and will mean some pretty fine riding. Owing to their speed and lightness, the small motorized bikes show up exceptionally well, but with some expert maneuvering on the bigger machines, this event will not be a cinch for any of them. It is claimed.

Other events will be for the "45" class, the "74" class and the "37" class motors.

COLLEGE TEAM UNDEFEATED IN HOOP LEAGUE

Retain Lead in Intermediate "A" Division By 41-20 Win Over Centennial

Foresters, Keating and Fourx Other Winners; Four Games To-night

Victoria College still remain undefeated in their division, through winning their game last night at the Centennial gymnasium by a score of 41-20 from the Centennial team. College showed a splendid offensive, backed by an excellent defence.

When they stacked up against the Super-Service next Wednesday, a great battle is looked for. Foresters, Keating and Fourx were the winners of the other games, all of which were close.

In the first game of the evening Foresters took the J.B.A.A. into camp by a score of 12-10. The game was very close and the lead saw-sawed back and forth with Foresters leading when the final whistle blew.

Bill Blair and Jack Taylor refereed and the teams were:

Foresters—Irving (2), Moir (2), Reynolds (5), Longley, Lang and Davis. J.B.A.A.—Smith (4), Thompson (2), Wright (2), Brakes and Thom (2).

COLLEGE SUPERIOR

College were far superior to the boys from Centennial in the second game, and took things easy. Patterson and Blais collected twenty-five points between them and both looked good at forward.

Jack Taylor and Bill Blair refereed, and the teams were:

College—Patterson (12), Blais (13), Rogers (2), Chapman, Gilmore (4), White (5) and Foubister (5).

Centennial—Rosen (2), Jones (4), Woods (4), Jewsbury (2) and Walker (8).

LADIES' GAME CLOSE

The ladies' game was close and hard fought with Keating on the long end of the low score, but some good improvement, and in Hilda Beck have a fine scoring centre.

All Foubister refereed and the teams were:

New Method—Minnis, Zarelli, Tivy, Blair, Beck (10), Moir, Zarelli and Gough.

Keatings—Griffiths, Styan (1), Hansen (4), Styan (5) and Griffiths (2).

LOW SCORING

Fourx defeated the Navy in the final game by 10-8. Poor shooting was the cause of the low score, but some good passing was witnessed.

Bill Blair refereed and the teams were:

Fourx—Behnson (2), Jenner, Cartwright (3), Morrish, Land (2), Jewitt (3), Townsend, Rhodes, Macmurech and Whyte.

Navy—Freeman (2), Massick (2), Robinson (2), Wragg (2) and McCullagh.

To-night's games are as follows: 7:00 p.m.—Senior "C" Y.M.I. vs. Hudson's Bay Co. 7:30 p.m.—Ladies' "B" Nuggets vs. Red Birds. 8:40 p.m.—Senior "B" J.B.A.A. vs. Keating. 9:20 p.m.—Senior "C" Keating vs. Foresters.

With the Bowlers

After taking the first game in the five-pin fixture at the Arcade Alleys last night, the Whiteheads failed to come up to the mark set by their opponents, the Arcades, in the final two encounters and lost the match.

F. Pearl of the Whiteheads was the highest game score with 203 points, while J. Cruickshanks took the aggregate honors with a total of 472 points.

The James Island made their inaugural appearance in the Commercial League last night and sent Stockers down to defeat in three straight games. With a high game score of 192 they were the first encounter and an aggregate of 514, J. Thompson of the Islanders led the individual scorers.

Co-operation Between All Units Means Success For Soccer In Victoria

By PENALTY KICK

The inability of Victoria City to overcome the Victoria Wests and, likewise, the latter's inability to overcome the former at Beacon Hill on Saturday leaves the City still in possession of league honors. A record crowd of fans was no doubt treated to a bitter struggle with neither team conceding an inch of ground, but the greater portion of it was not completely satisfied.

If Victoria City were superior in one method of attack Victoria Wests demonstrated their skill in another, but the actual units which decide games of football were lacking in individual numbers and the victor and vanquished must be discovered at some future date.

DISMISSALS TO CONTINUE

What might have happened had the Wests been able to place eleven men in their positions for the whole ninety minutes is a matter for conjecture. Exuberance of his own verbiage brought discredit on Robinson, the Wests' inside left, for he was ordered off the field, being the third player on whom the hand of the referee was descended this season. Until the laws of the game are more fully understood and efforts made to obey them, these periodical dismissals are likely to happen.

SUFFICIENT ILLUSTRATION

The size of the crowd which congregated at Beacon Hill in anticipation of enjoying improving soccer entertainment was sufficient illustration, even to the pessimists, that united forces are working amicably towards one end, and that supporters are willing to do their share. But the real aids to permanency of this condition are to be found in harmony between players themselves, between players and officials of each individual club, between players, officials and fans and between them all unitedly and the referee.

Local football so far has commenced with great anticipation and, with all units working towards one end, this success will be assured. Let the number of dismissals from the field of play end at three for the season. Give the fans the clean, unvarnished quality of outdoor sport, they are willing to pay for and may the spirit of enthusiasm and progression which have made history for Blackburn Rovers, Everton and Aston Villa, and is gradually but surely spreading to the Victoria United and Manchester City, prevail in our midst. Football in Victoria will then soon develop to provincial dimensions.

THISTLES UNFORTUNATE

Unavoidably deprived of the services of a Reserve star goalkeeper, on Saturday, and lacking a capable substitute, Saanich Thistles have realized the weight of misfortune very early in their season. Added to this disadvantage was the injury to the only player in the half, and his loss and partial disablement completed the disorganization.

Neither Esquimalt nor the Thistles seem to have got properly into their stride for a loss one week converts itself into a win the next week.

Credit, however, is due Esquimalt, who took full advantage of the weakness of the Saanich defence to "boost" their goal average. This now numbers twenty-two, Victoria City and Saanich Thistles each having scored twenty. Youthful talent of Esquimalt requires experience before the team can enjoy a run of success such as came its way a couple of seasons ago. Fans will easily recall the brilliant work of Jimmy Hay in the Saanich defence, that of Boyd in the Esquimalt mid-field line; their presence was a tower of strength and such losses are hard to balance when talent is limited.

WAGNARD MOST USEFUL

Of their forwards, Wagland is probably the most useful, and in an emergency could be safely used in any position of the attacking line. There is considerable class in his manipulation and when in the field he plays the ball as a very hard player to dispossess. John and Joe Watt are members of the foundation team placed in the senior division by Esquimalt a few years ago, and their work on the field is the undoubted occupancy of the cells.

VICTORIAN IS EASY WINNER

Harry Payne Whitney's Horse Captures National Purse at Laurel

New York, Oct. 25.—Harry Payne Whitney's Victorian, a bay colt, won the $2,000 National Purse at Laurel yesterday, leading through the entire one mile and a sixteenth distance and setting a fast pace that held off the threats of Crusader and Display, which finished second and third. Crusader made a strong finish and was only half a length behind the finish.

Standing off a surprising threat from Gun Royal, Mrs. T. R. Queen's Joe Marrow III, won the West Point claiming handicap and was a favorite at 17 to 10, but had to come from behind at the finish to win after Gun Royal had put into a long lead. Low Gear took third.

The Reigh Count Handicap for two-year-olds at Hawthorne went to the runner, ridden by K. Horvath. Windy City was second and Little Oop third. The winner paid $9.22 straight in the mutuels.

Bobby Jones On Golf

MANY CHANGES HAVE OCCURRED IN GOLF CLUB MODELS

By BOBBY JONES

Fads come and go in golf very much as styles in women's clothes, and sometimes with just as little reason. Especially has this been true in the design of wood clubs, various and widely different types having enjoyed their day of popularity and passed on.

Years ago the popular wood models were very small with an amazingly limited hitting area. Some of them appeared to be little larger than the ball, and it must have been disheartening to the player to contemplate the chances of a shot with such a tiny implement. The clubs which I first saw were of this type, although I do not remember taking particular note at the time of their peanut-like appearance. I suppose they were too big for me to handle anyway.

From that time until a few years ago the heads of wood clubs have been continually increasing in size. The so-called "dreadnought" of fifteen years ago was a rarity but now I doubt if its presence would attract attention among a collection of 1928 models. Almost every driver used at Brae Burn was as ample in horizontal dimensions as the old "dreadnought," and most of them were deeper in the vertical dimension of the face.

KEEP BALL DOWN

The preference for a deep face is not hard to explain in the case of the expert golfer. The increased power and hence increased speed of the ball makes it rise more quickly from a hard accurate blow. The first-class player's problem is now to keep the ball down rather than to get it up, and the deep face assists him to that end. But the less accomplished player should have more need for the shallow face than ever before, because the ball has become heavier and heavier and hence harder to elevate if struck at all inaccurately or without considerable force.

I suppose a deeper face naturally suggests a head larger in all other respects. That may have had something to do with the generous design of present day wood clubs. But there is something else about a large head which is hard to describe or account for. A well-hit shot simply has a more satisfying feel off the large head than off the small one. I have heard numbers of people express the same preference although none could account for it. A big head of course, means more wood and less lead, which may make some difference in balance or resiliency, although I confess I don't know why it should. But I am sure there is a difference. Often the ball feels heavy off a small club while the large one appears to brush it along quite easily.

UNIVERSALLY POPULAR

The bulged or convex face is another feature of wood club design which has now become universally popular. The purpose supposed to be served by the curve is the correction of small inaccuracies in hitting; the angle of the face at the toe and heel being designed to counteract the hook or slice which would normally result from hitting the ball at those points. It is difficult to see that the bulge accomplishes that purpose, but I believe that it serves another almost equally useful. I have always had a feeling that I could drive farther using a driver with a bulged face.

Driving into Chicago after the Walker Cup matches at Wheaton, Francis Ouimet, Gene Homans, Maurice McCarthy and I discussed this very point. We all confessed to the same feeling, although not too anxious to express an opinion for which we could give no reason. The only explanation I could think plausible, and it is purely speculative, is that the point of the bulge presents a smaller area of contact with the ball than would a plane face, and the force of the blow being the same and concentrated within the smaller area would penetrate farther beneath the cover and deeper into the resilient centre of the ball. The difference if there is any, is of course, small, but I believe it must exist. I was the only person who had noted it, I should be prepared to blame my imagination.

With no goals being scored in the second half each team registering two in the first canto, the Navy and the Saanich United battled to a two-all draw at the Beacon Hill grounds yesterday.

With the game but two minutes old, Robinson, star centre for the sailors, scored with a perfect header that Tooby had trouble in seeing. This goal was the result of a back's miskick. Play then hovered around centre field, with first one team breaking away and then the other. On one of these attacks Saanich were awarded a free kick. Moir placed the ball in the goal-mouth and Barry, following up hard, scored.

NAVY PLAY HARD

With their one-goal lead offset, the Navy played hard and Tooby was bombed from all angles. However, he kept the citadel clear and the tension was relieved. The tars, however, were not to be denied, and Robertson sent in a scorcher that Tooby saved in a first-class manner. Robinson was right on the ball again and sent in a fast daisy-cutter that gave the Saanich net a milder no chance. Saanich forced a corner, but were weak in front of the goal.

The second goal for the boys from the suburban district was disputed. Spectators thought the ball was over the line, but it was apparently not, and the centre, Barry, again scored.

to bring the teams to even terms. From the centre the Navy pressed, but as further scoring resulted and the half-time whistle blew.

PLAY SLOWS UP

Play in the second half fell off until near the end, when the teams seemed to hit their stride again. Robinson went through the Saanich defence, but skilled the ball over the bar. Saanich were awarded a foul pretty close to the goal and the Navy players crowded around their net. The kick, however, was unsuccessful. Both goals were subject to some severe bombardment, but the goalies played brilliantly and the score remained unchanged. Robinson played a good game for the Navy, while Hagen showed up well for the Saanich lads.

"Scotty" McKay refereed. The teams lined up as follows:
Saanich United—Tooby, Hagen, Ashe, Moir, Jewsbury, Lane, Stonier, Spellar, Hawkes, Barry and Brown.
Navy—Twaites, Whyte, Lovett, Plummer, Roberts, Gilman, Cochrane, Hilbut, Robinson, Clarke and Mycock.

OFFICERS NAMED BY TENNIS CLUB

H. R. Punnett Elected President of Duncan Club at Annual Meeting

Duncan, Oct. 25.—The annual general meeting of the Duncan Lawn Tennis Club was held on Monday evening, the president, H. R. Punnett, being in the chair.

The financial report was read, showing the club to be in good standing. PRESIDENT'S REPORT

The president gave a brief report of the year's work. There were 138 playing thirty-two junior and twenty-nine non-playing members, twenty-eight new members have been admitted during the year, he said.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. P. Roberts for her work as "tea" convenor, and to Mrs. Calvert for her excellent work in arranging the teas during tournament week.

Regret was expressed at the passing of Dr. Georgehan, a non-playing member, who had always taken a keen interest in the club and its doings.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The election of officers resulted as follows: Hon. president, C. H. Dickie, M.P., and C. F. Davis, M.P.P.; hon. vice-presidents, Miss M. Leeming, F. J. Norie and C. M. Dawson-Thomson; president, H. R. Punnett; vice-president, Col. Talbot; secretary-treasurer, N. R. Staples; committee, Miss K. Robertson, Miss Dawson-Thomson, F. J. Norie, Boyd Wallis and S. J. Westcott; auditors, F. J. Norie.

Arrangements for the annual dance will take place on Thanksgiving Day, November 12, were discussed.

berth. Westholmes show flashes of good work, and their average of one goal a game illustrates that the opposition does not fully enjoy enough superiority to entirely blot them out. West month will show a decided improvement and, with cup competitions near at hand, the situation will be well come, if only to provide cup-tie experience for the weaker teams. The strength of each team was well matched and at half-time both had scored two goals. Then Five C's attack and defence both prevailed, the capability of the promising Willoughby, as the last line of defence and the important and valuable backing-up system of the "middle line" eventually placed the decision beyond any doubt.

JUNIORS PLAY WELL

Curiosity caused the presence of "Penalty Kick" at Hampton Road on Saturday, where a junior game was in progress. Many spectators were there and Victoria City's second team eventually won the game by two goals to one. Particularly impressive was the work of some of the "Y" boys. A little more coaching in the finer points of the game must be freely given by those in charge, and those players, diligently practiced by the players, will considerably improve their play. The only goal scored by the losers was a real gem—a first-time effort kept low, the like of which is much too seldom seen in local circles. During the second half, and especially after the losers' goal, the ball was continually out of play. The greed for honours at the expense of sportsmanship will soon destroy the game's science, but the practice of it will surely bring its own reward and serve to keep the supporters amicably entertained.

The incidents of the game caused much surprise, for, with the Y.M.C.A. practically shooting in for two-thirds of it, only one shot materialized. Not that the defence of the City was impregnable, for many times were both backs spreadeagled when they should have been in close company; their excitement and lack of practice increased in number the City's "lives."

Of enthusiasm there was an unlimited amount—some of the players gloried in kicking the ball as hard as possible with one ultimate wish—to chase it.

Hoover's Campaign In U.S. is Aided By Charles E. Hughes

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Charles Evans Hughes, in his second speech in behalf of the candidacy of Herbert Hoover, declared here last night that the political aims of the great majority of the people of the United States could be summed up broadly in the words "prosperity and progress."

The former Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court and Secretary of State under President Harding, arrived in Chicago only a few hours before the time set for his address.

"Progress demands stability, patience in dealing with problems on their merits, the search for a practical way, the talent to recognize it and leadership in pursuing it," he declared.

"If I were asked to name the man who in my judgment is the leading progressive of our day, I should name the Republican candidate for President, Herbert Hoover. To think progressively, to think toward betterment, to plan to achieve something worth while by practical methods in the interest of the American people, is as natural to him as to breathe."

Mate Sights Object Which He Believes Was Ill-fated Plane

Second Mate Spouse of British Freighter Seapool Which Loaded Lumber Here Declares That When In Mid Atlantic In August He Sighted Floating Hulk Which He Is Confident Was Aeroplane In Which Hinchliffe Took Off From England In March; Small Boat Put Out, But Swells and Darkness Prevented Examination.

What they confidently believed was the wreckage of the aeroplane in which Capt. Walter Hinchliffe and the Hon. Elsie Mackay took off from Cranwell aerodrome, London, England, March 13 last, was seen by two officers of the British freighter Seapool, which left Victoria last evening for Port Alberni after loading lumber for the last few days at the C.P.S. mills.

On August 13, when leaning over the rail of their ship in mid-Atlantic, Second Mate Spouse and the wireless operator noticed a peculiarly shaped object floating in the water some distance away. Upon steaming a little nearer the outline looked to them remarkably like the derelict body of an aeroplane. Orders were given to have the ship's speed reduced, while a more minute examination was made. A heavy swell was running at the time, the second mate said yesterday, and darkness was rapidly falling. A boat was lowered and the mate and two other officers pushed away in the direction of the plane. When in the small boat Mr. Spouse declared they could not see their objective on account of the rolling seas and had to follow directions from a man on the bridge of the Seapool as to where the wreckage was floating. They rowed in a semi-circle, but the growing darkness and the great swell made it impossible to see anything further. They returned to the lifeboat for about fifteen minutes.

By that time the men on the deck of the vessel were unable to sight the wreckage and the search was given up. Mr. Spouse was disappointed at not being able to find the wreckage and examined it. He thought that had the wreckage proved to be the ill-fated plane the bodies of either Capt. Hinchliffe and Miss Mackay, or perhaps both, might have been inside the cabin.

ONLY PLANE POSSIBLE
When he and other officers returned to their cabin and talked the matter over, Mr. Spouse said they concluded the wreckage could be no other than Hinchliffe's plane. All the other planes which took off and were never heard of would have been broken up by winter storms on the North Atlantic by the time the Seapool arrived, said Mr. Spouse. The Hinchliffe plane had attempted the flight only five months before. The Seapool followed the same route which Hinchliffe was supposed to have taken, a water route only followed by the smaller of the Atlantic cargo vessels.

UNLUCKY THIRTEEN
While not in the least superstitious the Seapool's second mate believes that the number thirteen has some bad luck connected with it. The ill-fated Hinchliffe plane took off on the thirteenth of the month and it was the thirteenth of the month, and a Friday that the wreckage was sighted.

TWENTY-TWO MEN SAVED IN SMALL BOAT IN QUEBEC

Montreal, Oct. 25.—All the crew of the steamship Cairnfort, ashore near Cape Whittle, on the north shore of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, were accounted for to-day when Furness-Withy and Company Limited received a telegram from Wolfe Cove, Quebec, stating that the mate's boat with twenty-two men on board had landed there. These men were unheard from yesterday and fears were expressed for their safety.

When the Cairnfort went aground on Tuesday the crew left her in two boats. The captain's boat was picked up by the Anchor Donaldson freighter Saucia, which is standing by the Cairnfort, while the mate's boat was unreported until to-day.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, Oct. 25.—With 363 passengers aboard the N.Y.K. liner Shinyo Maru sailed from here yesterday for the Orient. The liner carried a capacity cargo, among the items being 2,000 cases of leaf tobacco and 6,000 cases of canned milk. Eight colonies of San Francisco bees, all led by a queen bee, left on the liner to make their future home in Japan. The local office of the company was advised by wireless yesterday that the liner Shinyo Maru will make port here Friday. She is bringing 282 passengers and cargo which includes 2,129 bags of raw silk.

Captain Fred Nystrom, master of the H. F. Alexander, a liner of the Pacific Steamship Company that was laid up for the winter Tuesday, yesterday went to the bridge of the Ruth Alexander. He relieved Captain Charles Borg, who was taken from the ship ill. Captain Borg has been substituting for Captain H. F. Nystrom who is on vacation. The Ruth Alexander sailed for San Pedro yesterday.

The Matson liner Manoa arrived here early yesterday from Honolulu with a large passenger list, and with her cargo holds filled to capacity.

"Why so sad?"
"I have lost a five pound note."
"But perhaps you will find it."
"I know I shall not."
"Don't be so pessimistic—look everywhere."
"It is no use—I lost it at the races."

Seapool Hits Rock; Returning to Port

British Freighter Which Sailed From Victoria for Port Alberni Last Evening Strikes Uncharted Obstacle on West Coast of Island; Not Thought Badly Damaged; Expected Here Early This Evening.

Striking an uncharted rock on the voyage from Victoria to Port Alberni early this morning, the British freighter Seapool is returning to this port and is expected to arrive early this evening, according to message word received by wireless early this afternoon by King Brothers, local shipping agents, from Capt. Forth of the Seapool.

The Seapool is coming here for examination before proceeding to the West Coast to finish loading a lumber cargo for the Atlantic coast. The vessel has 600,000 feet of lumber aboard which she loaded in Victoria at the C.P.S. mills. She left from Victoria for the West Coast last week.

It is not expected that the Seapool is badly damaged as she asked for no aid. She will probably go to Esquimalt harbor where marine surveyors will examine her to ascertain the damage done by the accident. It may be necessary to put her into the Government drydock at Esquimalt for repairs.

The captain's radiogram did not state where the ship had struck the rock, but it is presumed it was between Cape Flattery and Barkley Sound.

The Seapool is a ship of 4,549 registered tons. She was built in Stockton, England, in 1913, and has been used in the freight business in all parts of the world. She is 378 feet in length, fifty-six feet in width and twenty feet in depth. She has a complement of about thirty-five officers and men. Her home port is West Hartlepool, England.

Psychologist Finds Movie Kids Above Average in Brains
By DAN THOMAS
Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 25.—Pages and pages have been written about the "beautiful but dumb" girls who are to be found in every film studio in Hollywood. But what about the children? One reliable source regarding the mentality of the movie kiddies.

On the face of things, it would seem that these boys and girls, ranging in age from two to twelve, who support their families by their work before the camera, would fall short of the intellectual standard set by normal school children. And indeed, in the past, they have been regarded as just average healthy, intelligent kids.

"In aesthetic appreciation the movie youngsters are about normal," says Brierly. "In definiteness of purpose, we find them just average. In ethical judgment, language originality and motor co-ordination, they are superior. Their ambition, their drive and love of fun are normal. Their jealousy, melodramatic instincts, resourcefulness and independence are above the average. But they are just average in generosity, neatness and sense of humor."

"They are superior in adaptability. Their ambition, their drive and love of fun are normal. Their jealousy, melodramatic instincts, resourcefulness and independence are above the average. But they are just average in generosity, neatness and sense of humor."

"Henry wanted to kiss me last night."
"How do you know he wanted to?"
"Because," said the pretty girl, "he wouldn't have said it, if he hadn't wanted to, would he?"

EMMA ALEXANDER WILL DOCK HERE EARLY TO-NIGHT

Earlier than at first expected, the coastwise liner Emma Alexander will dock at the Rithet Piers here this evening about 9 o'clock, according to wireless advice received in the city at noon to-day by W. M. Allan, local agent, from Capt. G. A. Harris, commander of the ship. For this port the Emma has twenty-five passengers and 106 tons of general cargo.

Tokiwa Maru Now En Route Here; To Dock November 3

Sailing from Yokohama on October 20, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha freighter Tokiwa Maru will make port here on the morning of Saturday, November 3, according to word received in the city this morning by A. H. Hebb, local agent, from company headquarters in Seattle. For Victoria the vessel has 150 tons of general cargo, including forty cases of made-up silk goods and twenty bales of the raw product. A heavy cargo, including a valuable shipment of raw silk, will go on to Seattle. The Iyo Maru, of the same line, will sail from this port for Kihna and Japan on the same day. The Iyo will take a capacity passenger list to the Orient.

Steamer Returns From Long Trip To Hudson Strait

Halifax, Oct. 25.—The Farouhar Line steamer Larch returned to Halifax yesterday afternoon after several months' absence during which she carried supplies to the three Canadian Government stations at Ponds Inlet, Hudson Strait. One feature of the trip, stated Capt. W. J. Balcom, was the lack of ice, excepting a few bergs. This, he said, was in marked contrast to conditions a year ago, when in Hudson Strait he traveled through 500 miles of ice, filled with many bergs.

DISORDERS CONTINUE
Budapest, Hungary, Oct. 25.—Anti-Semitic manifestations having their origin in the universities continued yesterday in Budapest, Debreczin, Pech and other large towns of Hungary. There were no casualties yesterday, but during the last few days numerous persons have been injured.

Despite the severe repressive measures taken by the Budapest authorities, Christian students who have been leading the anti-Jewish manifestations kept insisting that they would not tolerate the admission of any more Jews to the universities.

FRENCH NAVAL PLANS FOR 1929 ARE ANNOUNCED

New York, Oct. 25.—The New York Times published the following special dispatch from Paris yesterday:

Thirty-one new combatant vessels are scheduled to be commissioned by the French navy during 1929. Seventeen of them will be submarines, all of which will be capable of making long sea voyages. Under the provisions of successive building programmes adopted since January, 1920, plans were made for 164 new vessels, the last of which was ordered for delivery before the end of 1932. The 1929 quota is larger than the other annual deliveries, but is not regarded as abnormal.

The French naval building programme places emphasis on submarines, a total of ninety-one being scheduled out of the total of 164. The two new cruisers are expected to be the fastest of their type in the world, the two preceding ships of the same class having attained a speed of more than thirty-five knots.

After the 1929 deliveries there will remain on the programme for completion two 10,000-ton cruisers, plus scouts or squadron leaders, eight destroyers and about fifty submarines, among the latter being the 3,000-ton craft, said to be the largest so far laid down by any navy.

Ottawa, Oct. 25.—The United States continues to be Canada's best customer for non-ferrous metals and smelter products, according to the monthly report relating to the industry, issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Canada's entire export of raw gold during September of $892,417 went to the United States, while $81,600 pounds of refined aluminum out of 6,715,900 pounds exported was shipped across the border.

Germany and the United States took all of the 8,731,700 pounds of blister copper exported during the month. The figure represents an increase of more than 100 per cent over the corresponding period of 1927. All the leading powers of the world are shown as importers of Canadian nickel, with the United States in the lead, purchasing 3,183,200 pounds, or more than 90 per cent of the total.

and in promoting a public movement in behalf of national society. A secretary from each board was instructed to bear special responsibility for following up beginnings which were considered encouraging.

200,000 WOMEN BEHIND ROTUND COUNCIL

Mrs. H. Maclean of Local Council of Women Speaks to Rotarians

Asks Their Aid in Campaign For Large Endowment Fund in Canada

The sympathetic aid of the Victoria Rotary Club was this afternoon asked by Mrs. H. Maclean, secretary of the Victoria Local Council of Women, to raise in Victoria an apportionment of $5,000, towards the national endowment fund of $200,000 sought by the National Council.

Mrs. Maclean gave the weekly luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel a review of the activities of the Victoria Local Council of Women during the thirty-four years it has been in operation. It was pointed out that the organization of the Council of Women owed its inception to Aberdeen. Units now operate in all the larger communities of Canada.

A wide range of urban and rural subjects are embraced in the activities of the Local Councils, their views on national matters being focused through the National Council, indicating matters of current importance recently made the subject of representations to the Federal Government. Mrs. Maclean cited the immigration question. The view of the National Council of Women was stated to be that the Dominion should not bring to Canada settlers who would isolate themselves from association with the people, believing immigration should be directed towards building up a homogeneous population.

WOMEN JUDGES

Instanting the admission of women to jury duty, Mrs. Maclean showed that the Councils have taken a keen part in advancing the interests of women where law was under consideration.

The Council is an organization of many bodies, and when it advances matters for consideration by the Federal Government, it has behind it the weight of over 200,000 women. Mrs. Maclean pointed out.

Since organization thirty-four years ago, no public appeal for funds has been made, and the forthcoming campaign for an endowment fund of $200,000 is expected to gain strong support in all parts of the Dominion.

Rev. M. W. J. Bruce, thanking Mrs. Maclean for her address, promised that the Rotary Club and its members would not be found wanting to make successful the local campaign for $5,000.

Sea Power Is Topic Of British Admiral

London, Oct. 25. (Canadian Press Cable).—"The principle of freedom of the seas is a ridiculous proposition," declared Rear-Admiral Robert Carr, retired, addressing Conservative Party workers at Westminster to-day.

"Since the Seventeenth Century, when the British empire was created, the sea from the Dutch, there have been endeavors by continental European nations and later by the United States to restrict that power from us. Not being able to do that, there has come this suggestion of the freedom of the seas, meaning that all sea-lanes shall be open to all nations, neutral, should be permitted to carry on in war or in peace."

Rear-Admiral Carr, who commanded the battle cruiser Renown during the tour of the Prince of Wales to Canada, Australia and New Zealand in 1919 and 1920, asserted this policy would not allow the waters along our coast to be concentrated attention on armies and air forces.

"Does anyone think Sir Austen Chamberlain would be listened to for one moment on the continent for these occasional conversations if there were not behind him the power and might and majesty of the British navy?" he asked.

Samuel Robert Orr was suspended from the church pending the hearing of the case.

The application is made on behalf of Mr. Orr, who has been named co-respondent.

Hotel Rotunda Gossip

One of the prospering industries in the Hazelton district, besides mining, is furnishing big game hunters with supplies and the game is always sure of getting something within a radius of one hundred miles. Mr. Sargent said.

The year 1923 will be wonderful for automobile distributors, according to Archie Muir of Vancouver, one of the general motor sales managers for the West, who has arrived at the Empress Hotel to confer with Victoria agencies. Mr. Muir formerly operated a garage of his own in Victoria.

J. R. Muir, theatre operator of Vancouver, where new centres in giving Victoria talking movies during the next few weeks, is in the city.

M. A. Tuck, mining man, W. A. Dobson, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wilder and Mrs. Muir, are other Vancouver people in Victoria to-day at the Empress Hotel.

That the Bermudas should be considered as a base for run-runners to United States ports is regretted by Hon. H. W. Wallington, O.B.E., member of the House of Assembly who has arrived at the Empress Hotel. His family have been residents of the islands for 300 years, from sixteen years ago when his father, Mr. Sargent, shipwrecked there on his way to Virginia.

Mr. Wallington said the Bermudas were doing well, but that the Bermudians seemed to prefer to go to Florida when they went south for the winter.

A prize display will be arranged in the spacious front windows of the headquarters.

Ivan Aude reviewed the programme of local contests being organized for the Carnival and told of the prizes some prizes being offered. The fancy dress carnival will have an unusually long array of awards in many classifications.

"There will be plenty of prizes for everybody," he said.

J. Mackay told of the stunts and humorous races in preparation for which many entries are already assured.

J. P. Watson stated that excellent judges had been rendered by ticket buyers and that reservations were being made already.

INVITES RECRUITS

R. H. Kingham appealed to young men to join the Sixteenth Canadian Scottish Battalion, pointing to the excellent results following from discipline, while more general knowledge of the care of a rifle would obviate most of the regrettable shooting accidents during the hunting season, he said.

T. Yull gave a brief talk on the hardware business and its intimate association with building, lumbering, painting and other industries. He believed no industry was so intimately associated with the development of the Province.

James Adam reported upon arrangements for the first Winter dinner dance of the Rotary Club to be held at the Empress Hotel next Tuesday evening.

Mallardville, B.C., Oct. 25.—Licking his master's face and barking, a bulldog prevented the possible loss of several lives when an early morning fire partially destroyed the old Coquitlam municipal hall, in which three families resided.

O. A. Bridgen, who occupied premises on the upper floor and owns a pool room and barber shop in the building, states he was awakened by his dog about 2:30 this morning. With Mr. Bridgen was Richard Welsh, who was crippled owing to an accident to his foot, but both escaped safely, although Mr. Welsh fell on the stairs in getting out.

The bodies were transferred because the royal mortuary beneath the chapel is becoming full. Henceforth the mortuary will be reserved for sovereigns and heirs to the throne.

POOLEY WARNS CIVIL SERVANTS

Must Go If Politics Creeps
Into Works, Says Attorney-
General

James Elrick Elected President of Esquimalt Conservatives

Attorney-General Pooley dealt with the burning subject of appointments in the provincial civil service during the course of a speech at the annual meeting of the Esquimalt Conservative Association last night.

It was true, he said, that there were some Liberals in the civil service who introduced politics into their work. Some of these had been removed, and there were others who will be discharged. However, because a man was a good Liberal was not sufficient reason in itself to discharge him from the provincial service. If he were a good servant and left politics alone he could see no reason for discharging him. The action of the Conservative Government when it went into power, he said, was different from the action of the former Liberal Government when Mr. Pooley alleged, Conservatives had been dismissed from the service just because they were Conservatives.

Mr. Pooley made other interesting announcements during the evening. He repeated his intention to divorce the provincial police from politics.

ELRICK PRESIDENT
Officers of the association were elected as follows:

James Elrick, president, defeated Frank Cook, the one other nominee; S. R. Bowden, vice-president in competition with Vic. Wheatley; Capt. William J. Cox, secretary-treasurer; executive, Miss Pooley, F. Wha, C. H. Smith, Mrs. S. R. Bowden, G. W. Brooker, Frank Cook, A. T. Barley, H. H. Neild, S. G. Thompson, A. E. Cave, Mrs. J. Quinn and P. Diment.

During the conduct of the election Henry Callow occupied the chair.

During the evening songs were rendered by Mrs. Bowden, while Miss Phyllis Bennett on the piano and W. Anderson on the violin, rendered instrumental selections.

J. W. Archer spoke briefly on "Protection for Canada."

LAND FROM WHICH REDSKINS NEVER RETURNED SHOWN

C. L. Harrison Gives Interesting Lecture on "Forbidden Plateau"

Scaling of Castle Mountain
Also Related to Capacity
Audience

With lantern slides and two reels of film, C. L. Harrison, chairman of the outing committee of the Alpine Club of Canada, illustrated his lecture on the "Forbidden Plateau" before an audience which packed the Chamber of Commerce auditorium to capacity last night.

Mr. Harrison spoke of the club's aims in visiting this region, which, he said, was about twenty miles due west of Courtenay and which could only be reached over a tortuous trail from the small town of Bevan. Primarily the party of thirty-five which made the trip entered the region to scale Mount Albert Edward and Castle Mountain, as well as to make a brief survey of the country. The principal interest in the trip was the climbing of the Castle, since the summit of that mountain had never before been reached, he said.

AN INDIAN LEGEND
Before dealing with the actual climbing of the mountain, Mr. Harrison explained to the audience the derivation of the name "Forbidden Plateau." As near as he could trace it, the name was taken from an Indian source which had as its background an Indian legend. Parties of Indians had gone into the country, but had never returned, the legend said. Hence there grew up a superstition about the region, and it was believed that the plateau was "Forbidden" to the Indians.

Mr. Harrison traced the route of the party into the plateau. The trail from Bevan led to Beecher Pass, the only opening into the region. Through it the party passed and along to the Goose Lakes, traveling in a country dotted with lakes and alive with game. Finally, after some arduous climbing, the visitors made their camp at Lake Beautiful, a stretch of water named by them.

AN ALPINE GARDEN
As they reached the plateau, the grass and brush which they had been traveling through gave way to heather and alpine plants, and the country took on all the beauty of a grand alpine garden.

The day after they had reached Lake Beautiful a party made the trip to the tree-line on the upper reaches of the plateau, where they made a temporary base for climbs from that point to Mount Albert Edward.

Mr. Harrison then showed some fine views of this mountain, illustrating the rugged contours of the country and giving some idea of the depth of snow which covered this part of the plateau during most of the year.

Other slides illustrated the ascent of the mountain, while one gave a view from the summit where a cairn was erected.

FOURTH HIGHEST
From Albert Edward the party continued to the Castle, the fourth highest mountain on the Island and one which, previous to their visit, had never been scaled. Mr. Harrison showed the difficulties in the path of the mountaineers who could only approach the summit via a horseshoe route which was bounded on one side by a canyon some 2,000 feet deep.

Finally the party reached the top of the mountain, and there too place a cairn in which they left a written record of the date on which they had reached the summit along with the names of the individuals in the party.

Throughout the lecture Mr. Harrison showed interesting views of the country which the club had visited. The differences in vegetation, rock formation, climate and land surface were all shown, and some idea of the difficulties which the alpinists surmounted was related.

Preceding the address on the "Forbidden Plateau," Mr. Harrison gave a short talk of the Sooke Mountain Park and the Alpine Club's territory in that vicinity. He stated that the park was the outcome of a request presented to the Government by the club for a tract of land in which the organization could make its headquarters.

While dealing with Sooke he showed some slides of the country in the old days when the Leech River was the scene of a gold rush. In contrast to this he projected some of the scenes which are to be witnessed to-day.

One slide in particular drew much applause from the audience. This was the picture of the ground on which the memorial cairn has recently been erected at Leechtown.

A Crease moved a vote of thanks to the speaker for his most instructive and entertaining address, while C. P. Hill, director of the Chamber of Commerce, thanked him on behalf of the chamber, saying that if the world could only learn of the country which Mr. Harrison had shown on the projecting sheet, the future of Victoria as a base for alpine expeditions would be assured.

Grandfather of Aubrey Jones Is Centenarian

Samuel Jones, grandfather of Aubrey Jones of the Dominion Immigration Department here, celebrated his centenary as a native son of Canada on October 5 at his home in Newtonville, Ont. PREPARE FOR TUBERCULOSIS STAMPS SALE

Kiwanis Club is Organizing Drive For Contributions at Christmas

The Kiwanis Club is preparing a widespread campaign to promote sale, in Greater Victoria, of Christmas seals issued by the Tubercular Society of Canada. The campaign is being conducted as a part of the community work of the Kiwanis Club, and a large sum is expected to be realized for tuberculosis prevention work locally.

D. McAdie, chairman of the committee in charge of the campaign, stated this morning that at least 75 per cent of the money collected will be at the disposal of the Victoria Kiwanis Club for tuberculosis work. The remaining 25 per cent is earmarked for the Canadian Tubercular Society at Ottawa, to pay for the literature and other material supplied for the campaign.

TRAVELING X-RAY EXPERTS

Approximately 15 per cent of the contributions will be allotted to Trans-Quile Sanatorium. Part of this amount will be invested in a portable X-ray machine, and the remainder will assist in paying the salary of a traveling nurse, who will check suspected cases of tuberculosis for follow-up work by the physician with the portable X-ray apparatus.

Mr. McAdie points out that the principal object of the Canadian Tubercular Society is to arouse the public to realization of the dangers of the disease, with recognition that tuberculosis is both preventable and curable.

The Victoria Kiwanis Club is preparing to send out more than 5,000 letter appeals, and will supplement this campaign by a close canvass of the business section of the city.

"National Fish Week, with its slogan 'Eat More Fish,' will be observed throughout Canada by the Canadian Fisheries Association from October 29 to November 3. The association urges that all menus for the period reflect the character of the week by offering fish in various forms.

PEACETIME PATRIOTISM

A Fable for Merchants and Salesmen

SHE was an insistent purchaser of local products. She knew the security of her home depended largely on herself, and all mothers like her—depended on their insistence of securing local products. For it was directly through the prosperity and increasing activity of local industry that the men folk of her country enjoyed secure positions and steady employment.

That is why, when shopping for an outer garment for her son, she demanded a local product. The store clerk hesitated and told her the article she required was out of stock at present, but that a certain foreign-made article was "just as good." She refused the foreign garment and left the store.

Back of this mother's insistence was a pride in the products of her homeland—the true peacetime patriotism.

STOCK MARKET — FINANCIAL NEWS — GRAIN MARKETS

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

Chicago, Oct. 25.—The open interest in wheat futures at Chicago Tuesday night was reported at 129,000 bushels, compared with 111,214 bushels on the first day of the month, and is the largest of the season. The Journal of Commerce to-day says:

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)
Wheat, Oct. 25.—Wheat—Market dull but active firm to-day with prices holding within a narrow range, but mostly slightly higher than at the close Wednesday. The cash market displayed relatively the most strength, and it was understood that there was a little short covering going on, probably from shippers, while longer appear to have pretty well liquidated. Offerings were very light, there being no pressure on the market at any time, while seaboard houses took a little wheat on the dips.

The fairly large export business of yesterday, overnight sales were small, seaboard placing the figures at 500,000 bushels, including Manitoba and American. Winters. In the cash market there was a fair demand early for the lower grades and spreads were slightly better, but the demand became filled up, after which the market became very quiet and all spreads became unchanged.

The Argentine Government slightly increased their estimate of the wheat acreage in that country. Argentine and Australian crop conditions still reported as very favorable.

Coarse grains—Just a dull, narrow trade passing in the course of the day. Offerings appeared to be more plentiful, but these were absorbed by shorts covering in the October. No export business in oats, barley or rye could be confirmed.

Flax quiet; featureless market showing an easy tone.

A Story of the Mystic East

The Riddle of Siwa

By DIXON KAYE

Author of "Dr. Burney's Greatest Case."

"I know Ibrahim," he said. "I do not think that he took away this young lady."

"Then who did?" asked the other. "At the present moment I am unable to say," responded Sir Amroth, "but I do not believe that Ibrahim was the abductor."

"But let me turn to another subject. Have you heard anything further of the Princess?" he asked. "Yes, I received a letter from her to-night, but I burnt it at once. It was couched in the usual passionate style."

The old man laid his hand on Seymour's knee.

"Whatever coercion is practiced upon you, refuse to marry the Princess! Death is infinitely preferable to such a union. You understand this and will promise me?"

"I understand fully," the other answered, "and I promise you will not marry the Princess, whatever pressure is brought to bear upon me."

The baronet sank back in his chair with a sigh of relief.

"Many years ago," he said presently, "as a young man, full of ardour, and diligently searching into the myths of Egypt, thinking I was enriching science by so doing, became a member of that cult of which Abdullah is the High Priest. I surrendered my life, just as willingly as you did yours, into their hands, and became their slave, just as much as you are, subject to awful punishments in case of treachery to the Cause. I am in their power now and shall be until I die. God help me! But with you," he continued with a kind look at Seymour, "this is different. You can break away from them by the simple act of marrying Miss Mander, by which act you place yourself under the protection of a Power infinitely greater than theirs, but let nothing in this world induce you to fall into the Princess's snare and marry her after you have married your English sweetheart, for if you do, both you and your young wife will be absorbed into the atrocious soul of the Princess for ever."

"But why," interjected Seymour, "did you not marry, Sir Amroth, and free yourself by this act?"

"I DID marry," was the answer. "I married the sister of the Princess, the Infernal incarnation of herself. All the worldly knowledge of old Egypt has come to me through it and made me what I am, perhaps the best known Egyptologist in the world; but I have paid for that knowledge with my soul."

The old man was shaken to his heart's core, and trembled like an aspen.

"I too, know all the secrets of the Pyramids. I was beguiled as Abdullah tried to beguile you, with the sight of the beautiful sleeping woman; you repeated, I feel, and was united to her by my eternal union."

The old man looked at his watch.

"It is growing late," he said, and the dawn is coming, and you must go and get sleep and strength for your ordeal of to-morrow. You will need it. Do not distress yourself more than you can help about the loss of Eva Mander; I believe it is only a temporary loss. Put your faith in Osman; he is a good friend to you. And keep always before your eyes the thought that your scheme being successful, by this time to-morrow you will have begun your journey to Egypt—and—Eva. And good-bye. I will try and see you once more."

In a few minutes Seymour was in his fast-sleeping back to London and sleep.

CHAPTER XXII

The neighbourhood of the Old Bailey in London, at the time of holding the Sessions at the Central Criminal Court, is a busy spot, and especially on the first day.

Here are barristers and solicitors, by the dozen and friends of the poor unfortunate who are to be tried, by the score.

But not the least exciting incident to the crowd is the bringing up, from the various prisons where they have been detained, of the prisoners who have been committed for trial without bail; the most serious cases, principally those of murder. Among these latter was the Prince Ahmed, whose rank had attracted the usual number of fashionable ladies.

Although the Prince's case was not at the head of the list, he had to be there in case his name should be called, for the collapse of a case, or the throwing out of a Bill by the Grand Jury, will often cause considerable confusion in the calling of cases; the judges must not be kept waiting; the prisoners must be ready to step into the dock upon their names being called.

Into this crowd descended Seymour and Dr. Hassan, from a taxi. "You look perfectly calm and collected, Doctor," the former remarked in Arabic. "It is more than I can say of myself. I believe my hand is shaking."

"Of course I am calm and collected," Hassan answered. "Am I not about to do a good deed?"

They passed through the entrance set aside for counsel and solicitors. Dr. Hassan having made himself thoroughly acquainted with it beforehand. Here their special permits commanded respect and their red turbans marked them as the counsel of the Egyptian Prince who was to be tried for murder.

Ahmed, as soon as possible, Hassan said to the Chief Warder on duty.

"We wish to see our client, the Prince Ahmed, to have an interview with him."

"Very well, sir," the man answered; "there will be a room vacant in a few minutes and I will send for him at once."

In a short time, Seymour and Hassan were shown into the room with the glass door.

"I have spent the whole morning," said Hassan, when they were alone, "in placing the papers and all necessary papers in the pockets of the coat I am wearing, so that when His Highness changes coats with me, he will have all the necessary papers ready to his hand. Do not forget to remind him that the pass to enter here is in his breast pocket. You may have to show your passes as you go out. See that His Highness holds his himself perfectly straight, as I do."

In a few minutes the Prince was brought into the room looking much as usual, but Seymour thought the two attendants with him appeared very white.

These men retired, closed the door, and stood before it, shoulder to shoulder, no doubt by arrangement, to conceal what was going on inside.

"Now quickly," cried Hassan in Arabic, slipping off his coat.

The Prince did likewise, and in a few seconds the change was made. Then the Prince, assuming the black wig, placed Hassan's turban upon it, and the change was made, Hassan revealing a close-fitting white wig, the very counterpart of the Prince's white hair. Seymour was amazed at the transformation and Hassan's likeness to his brother, as the Prince came and stood by him in the place of Hassan. Holding himself perfectly straight, as Hassan did, there was now no disparity in their height whatever, as there had been before.

It was necessary to remain a few minutes in the room to dispel suspicion, and Seymour, as had been arranged, produced some papers and turned them over.

But here an untoward incident occurred: The Chief Warder knocked at the door and entered; he gave a look round and seemed satisfied.

"I beg your pardon, gentlemen," he said to Seymour, and the pseudo-Hassan, "I mistook the room that the real Hassan gave a look at the door closed."

"Now go," he said. Seymour and the Prince bowed low to him, turned, and passed out of the room, the Prince smiling, as had been arranged, to sustain the likeness to his brother.

As they came into the corridor, Seymour passed his arm through the Prince's, and they strolled out naturally together.

As they neared the door, Seymour saw that those in front were showing their passes as they went out. He told the Prince where his was, and he duly produced it, after some rummaging, when Seymour's heart was in his mouth. Had he not found it, all would have been finished.

The door into the Old Bailey was opened by the warder; they passed through it. The Prince was free!

Without quickening their pace, they crossed the road to St. Sepulchre's Church, at the door of which stood a powerful-looking car. They entered it and drove away.

The car stopped at a dismal-looking house in a street off Russell Square. They were evidently expected; the door was immediately opened by a man with the appearance of an Egyptian, though in European clothing. He ushered them into the house and closed the door.

"Everything is prepared—please follow me," he said, and opened the door for them.

He led them upstairs and opened the doors of two rooms. In one of these another man was awaiting to attend them.

In the room into which Seymour was taken a complete change of clothing was spread out on the bed; in a quarter of an hour he had removed the dye from his skin with the assistance of the contents of the bottle given him by Dr. Hassan, and he had completely changed his clothes, appearing in the ordinary tweed suit of the traveling Englishman, a heavy fur-lined coat, and the usual leather cap, completed his preparations for the flight across the Channel.

The Prince appeared from the room opposite, dressed in black, with good shoes, and a black bowler hat, just the type of dress of upper servant of the higher class. He bowed with his head bowed, as if awaiting orders.

"There had better be as little delay as possible, Effendi," said the man who had led them in; "there is not too much time for the aeroplane. You will find two passports in your pocket. You are advised to use one at Croydon and Paris, and the other at Brindisi."

"Now, off we go!" the big whale cried. His mouth was open wide, and all the Tinties crouched together, just a wee bit scared. The whale had saved them from the sea, but they were puzzled as could be. It didn't seem they realized how lucky they had fared.

"A place like this is something new. Why, he could bite us all in two if he'd decide to close his mouth," said Clowdy, with a frown. And if he'd take a real deep breath, I fear 'twould blow us all to death. Oh, my! I wish we all were in some funny little town."

The whale then started swimming fast. The monstrous waves went skimming past. It was a very thrilling ride the Tinties agreed. The wave sprays seemed just like a shower. We're traveling miles and miles per hour," said Clowdy. "I am sure that I have never seen such speed."

On, on they went across the sea, thus far as safe as safe could be. The whale's mouth stayed wide open. The whale was kind to them, no doubt. Then Carpy said, "As long as this keeps up there's naught to go amiss. But, if he starts to close his mouth, I surely will jump out."

"Oh, look!" cried Clowdy. "There's a ship. Perhaps we soon can end this trip. The whale is heading straight that way. I wonder who's on-board?"

The whale then spouted water high. It almost seemed to touch the sky. Then, as he spouted once again, his monstrous nostrils roared.

By this time they were near the ship. The Tinties saw a long rope zip up through the air and land upon the whale, who made a fuss. The rope, however, caught him tight, and Clowdy shouted, "We're all right. The men upon the little boat are going to rescue us."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Rustling Leaves

Copyright, 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

After Uncle Wiggily had given Mrs. Bushytail the squirrel lady, some chestnuts to make a pudding the rabbit gentleman began to wonder what sort of an adventure he would have next.

"If I had my way," said the rabbit gentleman, twinkling his pink nose up and down for a change, "I would like to go on an adventure with something funny in it."

"You shall have your wish!" suddenly exclaimed a voice. "Hello! Who is that talking to me?" exclaimed Mr. Longears, looking around amid the trees and bushes, for he was out in the woods in the crisp October air.

But he saw no one, and there was no answer to his question, so Mr. Longears began to believe he had really heard out from beneath the pile came Johnny Bushytail, the squirrel boy.

"Hello! Whatever are you doing in the rustling leaves?" asked Uncle Wiggily, his heart still beating fast.

"Oh, I was just looking for some hickory nuts or beechnuts," answered the squirrel boy. "I often find nuts under leaves."

"Well, you're glad you weren't a Bad Chap hiding under them," said Mr. Longears. "Good luck to you!"

So Uncle Wiggily hopped along and Johnie kept on looking for nuts and pretty soon Mr. Longears saw another pile of leaves. As soon as he looked at them the leaves began to quiver and shake and rattle.

"Surely there must be a Bad Chap hiding under them," thought Mr. Longears and he was getting ready to hop away when, all at once, out from beneath the leaves scrambled Tommie Kat, the pussy boy.

"Oh, Tommie! I thought you were a Bad Chap!" gasped Uncle Wiggily.

"Once I was bad, my mother said, when I tipped over my saucer of milk," mewed Tommie. "But I hope I'm good now."

"Oh, I'm sure you are," said Uncle Wiggily and then, all at once he heard another rustling in the dried leaves of the path and, turning quickly, thinking it was the Fox after him, Uncle Wiggily saw Mr. Twistytail, the fat pig gentleman.

"Oh, I'm so glad to see you!" said the rabbit.

Before Mr. Twistytail could answer a gust of wind blew some of the dried rustling leaves down the fat pig's neck and they tickled him so that the big fat animal had to laugh.

"Ha! Ha! Ho! Ho! Tee! Hee!" Oh, how he laughed. He chuckled until he shook all over like a bowl of jelly, and Uncle Wiggily had to laugh also to hear his friend laugh.

"Oh, ho!" said the bunny

nothing. But it was the wind whispering to the rabbit and what the wind promised really came to pass a little later.

"Yes, I should like a funny adventure," went on Mr. Longears, speaking aloud to see if the voice would answer him again. But he heard no sound more than the whispering wind and rustling dried leaves. For now nearly all the leaves were off the trees where Uncle Wiggily lived in his hollow stump bungalow.

"I wonder," said the rabbit gentleman to himself, "how it would seem to live down in the sunny South, where the leaves never fall off the trees, where there are palms and coconuts and pineapples and all that sort of thing and where there is never any winter? I wonder!"

But, then, he rather liked the cold weather after he had grown his thicker winter coat of fur and he did not want to move to the South now. So Mr. Longears hopped along looking for an adventure.

All of a sudden Uncle Wiggily stopped short and stood still. And no wonder. For on the path in front of him was a pile of leaves, and as the bunny rabbit looked at them the pile of leaves began to rustle and rattle and move.

"Oh, ho!" said the bunny rabbit to himself, "here comes an adventure for me, and it isn't going to be a jolly funny one, I fear. I think a Bad Chap must be hiding under those leaves and soon he will jump out and nibble me!"

Mr. Longears was just going to run away when, all of a quickness, the leaves rustled louder than before and nothing. But it was the wind whispering to the rabbit and what the wind promised really came to pass a little later.

"Yes, I should like a funny adventure," went on Mr. Longears, speaking aloud to see if the voice would answer him again. But he heard no sound more than the whispering wind and rustling dried leaves. For now nearly all the leaves were off the trees where Uncle Wiggily lived in his hollow stump bungalow.

"I wonder," said the rabbit gentleman to himself, "how it would seem to live down in the sunny South, where the leaves never fall off the trees, where there are palms and coconuts and pineapples and all that sort of thing and where there is never any winter? I wonder!"

But, then, he rather liked the cold weather after he had grown his thicker winter coat of fur and he did not want to move to the South now. So Mr. Longears hopped along looking for an adventure.

All of a sudden Uncle Wiggily stopped short and stood still. And no wonder. For on the path in front of him was a pile of leaves, and as the bunny rabbit looked at them the pile of leaves began to rustle and rattle and move.

"Oh, ho!" said the bunny rabbit to himself, "here comes an adventure for me, and it isn't going to be a jolly funny one, I fear. I think a Bad Chap must be hiding under those leaves and soon he will jump out and nibble me!"

Mr. Longears was just going to run away when, all of a quickness, the leaves rustled louder than before and

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

To-morrow's Horoscope

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1928

Astrologers read this as rather a lucky day, for a benefic aspect dominates it. Uranus is in sinister mood, however.

Under this sway music should benefit greatly and the stars are read as promising a rare successful opera season. It is an auspicious way for women and their artistic ambitions. Actresses should benefit and new stars are foretold. Love affairs again come under a sway making for serious workings in contrast to the Summer's flirtations. This is a favorable rule under which to enter into engagements to marry.

Under this rule entertainments of every sort are likely to be successful for the vibrations are supposed to impart safety and high spirits. There is a sinister sign supposed to indicate much muddled thinking and distorted logic regarding many things including education and public affairs.

There is a good sign for the young in which are forecast many playgrounds and other sources of light training for boys and girls. As the younger generation matures it will be apparent that super men and super women have been preparing for the work of the world, the seers prophesied.

The women who use their varied knowledge in managing home affairs will benefit greatly at this time when social life is successful. All through life. The subjects of this sign often have wonderful persuasive powers and are able to become leaders in big enterprises. These subjects of Scorpio often are exceedingly flexible.

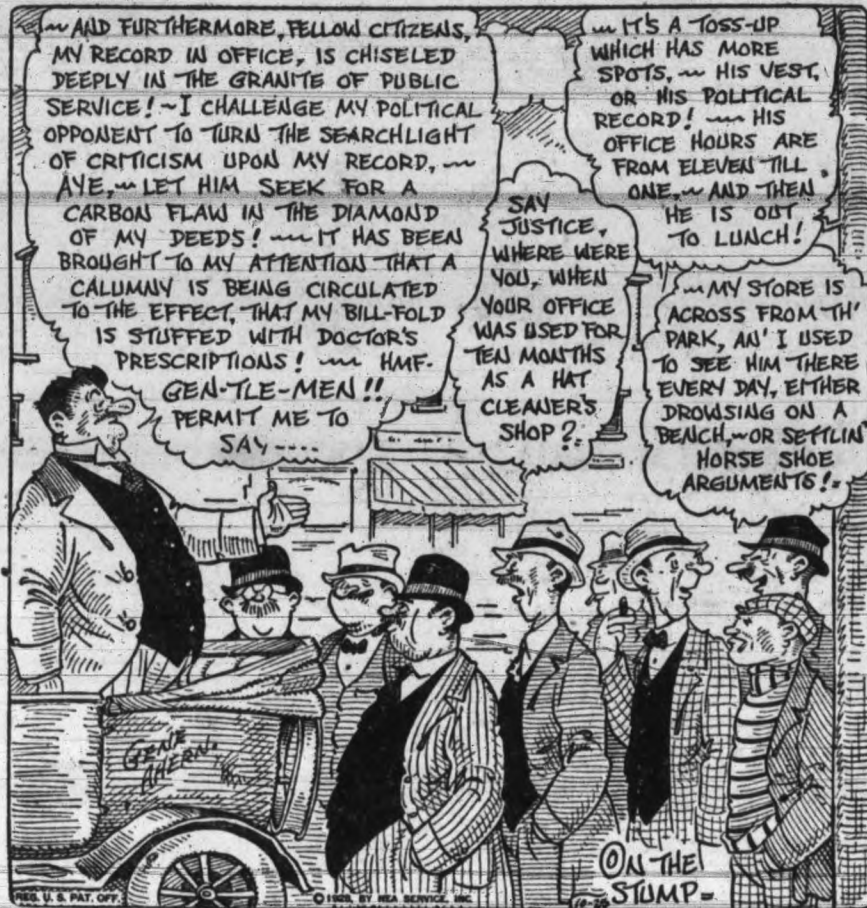

Persons whose birthdate it is have the security of a happy year that brings many pleasant surprises. They should beware of intrigues or flirtations. Children born on this day are likely to be successful. All through life. The subjects of this sign often have wonderful persuasive powers and are able to become leaders in big enterprises. These subjects of Scorpio often are exceedingly flexible.

STORY OF WEST SHOWING ON THE CAPITOL SCREEN

"The Glorious Trail," a First National picture produced by Charles R. Rogers and starring Ken Maynard, is the current attraction at the Capitol Theatre.

This picture is based upon actual historical fact and has as its theme the stringing of the first telegraph wires in the West and the connecting link that brought the East and the West into closer contact. The story in itself is powerful in scope, but the closely interwoven human element that shows the terrific hardships and privations encountered by the daring men who made possible this feat, "The Glorious Trail" is well named. Audiences are finding in it everything that goes to make up a thrilling motion picture.

Charles R. Rogers, producer of the Maynard series, has spent unlimited time and money in presenting not only something in a historical way but action, thrills and romance.

On the stage at the Capitol this week are Rees and Hansen, with an acrobatic novelty that is different: Thayer and Ours, late solo dancers of the Denishawn Dancing School, and Cecile Barbezard, the internationally known concert soprano soloist in song selections, with the Capitol Theatre stage band, and Harold Bechtel, the popular singing master of ceremonies.

CLARA BOW IN NAVAL PICTURE AT THE DOMINION

"The Fleet's In!" starring Clara Bow, will open at the Dominion Theatre today for a three days' engagement. It's a Paramount picture.

As may be guessed from the title, the picture is a "sea-going" one, however, the action of the story for the most part is laid in a seacoast town which is visited by the United States battle fleet just returned from a training cruise.

According to advance reports where the picture has had its showing, Miss Bow has one of the best parts of her career. She is cast as a dance hall hostess whose duty it is to encourage the sailors on shore leave to spend as much of their month's pay for dance tickets as possible. It is during a visit of the fleet to the port that she becomes the centre of a rivalry between two "gobs" from the U.S.S. California. Those parts are played by James Hall, popular Paramount leading man, and Jack Oakie, a newcomer to the screen, but none the less adequate for the role.

All the fire and dash of a Clara Bow performance is featured in this characterization by the popular star. By virtue of the story she is given ample opportunity to display her histrionic talents to good advantage.

BILLIE REAMS IS POPULAR ACTRESS AT THE COLISEUM

Playing the rather difficult role of an overgrown child continually crying for her father and some all-day suckers is the lot of Miss Billie Reams, of the Lee Jaxon Players, who is appearing all this week at the Coliseum Theatre with the company in a screamingly funny farce entitled "Bill's in Town." Miss Reams presents a captivating appearance in a ruffled dress, ankle high socks, and a great bonnet tied under the chin. She romps and laughs and shouts with all the agility of a ten-year-old in the best of spirits. She is looking for her daddy and is determined to have him or else make it very uncomfortable for those whom she is with.

Since coming to Victoria seven weeks ago, Miss Reams has become exceedingly popular with her Victoria audience, to whom she is known as a coquettish little comedienne with winsome ways and happy charm. Whenever Miss Reams appears on the stage it is the signal for a great burst of applause from the audience. She is an able singer of "blues" also, and gives several numbers each week.

In addition to this fine bill on the stage, the Coliseum management is offering a screen attraction as well. This week it is "Buck Privates," a story of the American Army in Germany after the Great War. Lya de Putti plays the leading feminine role, while Malcolm McGregor is cast opposite her.

PLAYHOUSE FILM SCREENED IN GAY FRENCH RESORT

Playgoers who have not viewed Fox Films colorful production, "No Other Woman," now the feature attraction at the Playhouse Theatre, are due for disappointment unless they check off the time the coming three days to see this picture. Manager Calladine announces he must end the highly successful run of this feature starting Dolores Del Rio, at the end of this week, owing to bookings that cannot be cancelled to extend the showing.

"No Other Woman," a story of primitive passions in the fashionable set Summering at Biarritz, France, is one of the best productions screened at the Playhouse this season. It has romance, comedy, suspense and adventure—qualifications for excellent screen entertainment.

SHAKESPEAREAN ACTOR COMING

Balioi Holloway Will Appear in G. Bernard Shaw Plays at Royal Next Week

When Maurice Colbourne presents "Fanny's First Play" at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Saturday, November 3, at both performances he will wisely omit the induction and epilogue. But it was not without a struggle that Bernard Shaw allowed him to do this.

Balioi Holloway, incidentally a Shakespearean star of international renown, will play the part of Shakespeare, and in "Fanny's First Play," Miss Phyllis Cogan, one of the loveliest members of Mr. Colbourne's company, will make her bow in one of the most farcical and amusing of all Shavian parts, that of "Darling Dora," while Mr. Colbourne will play "Juggins," the inscrutable footman with a past—and a future.

Their Majesties, King George and Queen Mary, witnessed a command performance of Charlie Chaplin's "The Circus," at Balmoral Castle in Scotland last month. The Duke and Duchess of York were also present. According to cable advices received, Their Majesties laughed continuously and enjoyed the film immensely.

John Barrymore is making the "jump" under the direction of Sam Taylor, Camilla Horn, Louis Wolheim, George Fawcett, Ulrich Haupt, Boris de Farsse are in the cast.

Last Summer when Mr. Colbourne was in London, Shaw maintained that the critics who form the induction and epilogue were, to use his own words, as "funny as comic-grocers and mothers-in-law." However, Mr. Colbourne was, and indeed these critics have largely lost their savor because their originals (all real London newspaper men) are to-day either unrecognizable or dead.

Mr. Colbourne felt that by leaving these critics in their obscurity at graves, and by putting that delicious bit of impertinence, "The Dark Lady of the Sonnets," in their place, he would be giving theatre patrons more of a dramatic feast for their money. Also it was felt that the production of this one-act master trifle was extraordinarily opportune this season, seeing that the Stratford-on-Avon Festival Company are this year paying their first visit to this continent. The connection between the two is obvious when it is remembered that the characters of "The Dark Lady" consist of a Referee, the Dark Lady, Queen Elizabeth and Will Shakespeare himself.

FRITZ KREISLER HERE THIS WEEK

Famous Violinist Will Give Programme at Royal on Saturday Evening

Before sailing on his most recent voyage to Europe Fritz Kreisler spoke a few words on love and art.

This man, greatest violinist in the world to-day, has been married for twenty-four years to his present wife, and intends to stay married—having no doubts at all that his marriage is permanent. He says too many married people waste their emotions on others than their mates. They get divorces because they want "happiness" and think they will find it in another wife or husband.

"But they do not find it," says Kreisler, "for the reason that they have no happiness in themselves."

Why is anything Fritz Kreisler says on that subject important? Because he happens to be an individual who might have been very badly spoiled since childhood. He is a great artist, but he is much more than that. He gives every indication, constantly, of being an intelligent, fine-hearted human being, who doesn't trade on his popularity as an excuse for eccentric behavior. The world would forgive him much, but has not been asked to do so.

Fritz Kreisler will appear at the Royal Victoria Theatre for one night only, Saturday, October 27.
